Dear Graduates, Faculty, Family, and Friends,

Welcome to the 218th Commencement at the University of Vermont! Today, we carry on the centuries-old tradition of convening the University community to honor our graduates and celebrate their many achievements. We also take this moment to recognize the many parents and loved ones who supported and encouraged our graduates these past years. Today, we celebrate you as well.

Our graduates have much to be proud of as they reach this defining moment of completion and an exciting new beginning. They have immersed in a multitude of opportunities for discovery and development offered in the vibrant academic ecosystem of UVM. They have started and nurtured lifelong relationships with teachers, mentors, and friends. They are stepping out into the world prepared for the explorations and opportunities ahead, leaders and learners in the spirit of engaged citizenship for which UVM is known.

Graduates, today is your day! We celebrate you—all that you have achieved and all you are looking forward to—as you take this energy of engagement and potential into the world. Know that however far away you are, you always will have a home at UVM. I hope you will be active alumni, sharing your experiences with our students and continuing your vital presence in the wide UVM community.

Congratulations to the class of 2019!

Commencement Speaker and Honorary Degree Recipients

DARREN WALKER

Doctor of Humane Letters, honoris causa
Commencement Speaker

Darren Walker presides over the Ford Foundation, one of the world's most influential social justice philanthropies and one of the largest private foundations in the United States. As president, Mr. Walker oversees the foundation's $13 billion endowment and guides the organization's $600 million in annual grant making.

As he recently described, the foundation is in the business of hope. "Our hopes for our grantees, our communities, and our world inform the work we do each and every day."

Mr. Walker has long been in the business of brokering hope. He spent ten years in a promising career start in international law and capital markets. But his soul sought more, and in 1995 he left the corporate world to volunteer at an elementary school in Harlem. That career reset moved Mr. Walker into the nonprofit and philanthropy sectors, where he has risen to the pinnacle of influence, with the opportunity to share his vision and shape grant-making priorities for one of the world's most engaged and effective foundations.

Mr. Walker's first position in the nonprofit world foretold his successes to come. As chief operating officer at Abyssinian Development Corporation, a community development organization in Harlem, he advanced the revitalization of this once-thriving hub of African American culture, including building over 1,000 units of affordable housing, spearheading efforts to open the first supermarket in the neighborhood in 25 years, and leading the development of the first public school to be built in New York City by a community organization.

In 2002, Mr. Walker moved to the philanthropic side of the nonprofit funding equation, joining the Rockefeller Foundation as working communities program director. There he managed a grant-making portfolio in excess of $25 million per year focused on anti-poverty strategies in the United States through education, employment, sustainable community development, and democracy building. Promoted to vice president for foundation initiatives in 2006, for four years he oversaw a wide range of Rockefeller Foundation programs in the United States and overseas, including leading the foundation's Rebuild New Orleans initiative following Hurricane Katrina.

In 2010, Mr. Walker joined the Ford Foundation as vice president for education, creativity and free expression, supervising more than 30 percent of the Ford Foundation's grants and overseeing regional programming in Africa and the Middle East. In 2013 he was named the Ford Foundation's president, the tenth in the foundation's 77-year history. The fact that the exhaustive executive search ended within the foundation's own ranks was no surprise to many in the field.

Widely respected as a forward-thinking leader, Darren Walker is unafraid to call out the shortcomings in our social systems that sustain inequality, including in the philanthropic enterprise. He is known for making bold, long-term investments in people and projects that address critical social concerns, and for partnering closely with people on the ground to bring diverse viewpoints and ways of approaching issues to the decision-making table. His work as a grantee has given him a perspective on the real struggles that nonprofits can experience, engendering an empathy with and trust in the people doing the work that his colleagues on both sides of the grant-making relationship praise him for.

Darren Walker's personal journey deeply informs his commitment to philanthropy as a powerful force for social progress, a force that expanded opportunity around the globe in the 20th century. The child of a single mother growing up in small-town Texas in the early 1960s, Mr. Walker was a direct beneficiary of those opportunities. A preschool student in the first Head Start class of 1965, Mr. Walker later gained entrance as a Pell-grant recipient to the University of Texas at Austin, where he graduated in 1982 with a bachelor of arts in government and a bachelor of science in speech communication. He graduated from the University of Texas School of Law in 1986.

Mr. Walker's volunteer commitments underscore the depth of his civic involvement. He is a fellow of the Institute for Urban Design and serves on the boards of the Arcus Foundation, Rockefeller Philanthropy Advisors, Friends of the High Line, and the Foundation for Art and Preservation in Embassies. He is vice-chair of the board of directors at the New York City Ballet and a member of the Council on Foreign Relations. In 2018 Mr. Walker joined the board of directors of the Committee to Protect Journalists. He has been included on Time Magazine's list of the 100 Most Influential People in the World, Rolling Stone's 25 People Shaping the Future, Fast Company's 50 Most Innovative People, and OUT Magazine's Power 50, among others.

For nearly 25 years Darren Walker has invested in and empowered the cooperative work of engaged citizens to advance the public good. Communities and projects across America and around the world bear the imprints of his vision, his skillful coalition building, and his ability to both lead and listen as an active partner in advancing a hopeful future for all.

SUZANNE PRESTON BLIER

Doctor of Letters, honoris causa

Suzanne Preston Blier '73 is a world-renowned investigator and interpreter of precolonial African art and material culture, and a pioneer in the digital humanities. The Allen Whitehill Clowes Professor of Fine Arts and Professor of African and African American Studies at Harvard University, she holds appointments in both the History of Art and Architecture department and the department of African and African American studies.

Since first encountering the early art of West Africa during her time as a Peace Corps volunteer in Bénin, her life's passion is looking deeply into both the materials and methods as well as the societies and historical moments that shape African art.

It is a fitting admixture for an art history major with a thirst for anthropology. Suzanne Preston Blier credits an idea that she heard in her very first art history class at UVM for kindling her passion and setting her on the path of her vocation. She recounts that spark, credited to her UVM teachers and the art historian Erwin Panofsky: "In his eyes, everything had a symbol and a meaning, and you could go into a work and decipher it [like]...a detective novel." Intrigued by the expressive work of some of civilizations oldest ancestors, and with little to no written history predating 19th-century colonial times, Suzanne Preston Blier set out to discover the deep stories in early African art, heretofore unstudied and untold. In the process, she has transformed the field.

Regarded as one of the most honored historians of African art, she is also considered one of the field's broadest thinkers. Her many and celebrated books encompass issues of form and aesthetics, as well as African architecture, psychology, and philosophy. Immersing herself in multiple West African cultures—the Yoruba of Ife-Ife, Nigeria; the Batammaliba of northern Togo; the Abomey kingdom of Bénin—she has followed the path of early African art, picking up leads that tell us about the art's makers and reflect back on us as viewers. In 2018 she was honored with a Yoruba chieftaincy title in Nigeria, in recognition of her scholarship on ancient Ife art.

An early adapter of using digital arts to inform and support humanities, in 1993 Suzanne Preston Blier created the electronic media project Baobab: Sources and Studies in African Visual Culture, at the time one of the largest academic studies of African art. The interactive website housing a database of 17,000 images included cultural studies on specific ethnic groups and a collection of multimedia case studies regarding the social roots of creativity. The Baobab project was the precursor to AfricaMap, a website created in 2007 to bring together the best cartographic data on the continent in an interactive GIS format. In 2011, the AfricaMap website, at Harvard's Center for Geographic Research, was expanded into WorldMap, a web platform for creating, displaying, analyzing, and searching spatial and other forms of data across multiple disciplines. In 2013, Suzanne Preson Blier and a colleague received a Digital Humanities Implementation Grant Award to enhance WorldMap with their project, "Extending WorldMap to Make It Easier for Humanists and Others to Find, Use, and Publish Geospatial Information."

Suzanne Preston Blier is the author of fifteen books, several of which have garnered critical acclaim and awards in academia as well as in the popular press. Her 2004 book, Butabu: Adobe Architecture of West Africa, was named a "Best of the Year" book selection by the Washington Post. Her book The Royal Arts of Africa has been translated into five languages and is a leading textbook in the field. Her most recent book, Picasso's Demoiselles: The Untold Origins of a Modern Masterpiece, forthcoming this July, draws on her extensive expertise to provide a new reading of Picasso's iconic painting, showing the revolutionary piece to be Picasso's representation of diverse women from the many cultures that he encountered in the colonial world in which he lived and painted.

Suzanne Preston Blier's extensive scholarship in art history and the digital humanities has opened deep layers of understanding and nuanced perception in the fields of African art and architecture among her colleagues, students, and the public. Her visionary and pioneering work is a vibrant testimony to the cross-disciplinary inquiry and collaborative scholarship at the heart of humanities education, to which she is a rich contributor.

JOHN BRAMLEY

Doctor of Science, honoris causa

John Bramley spent most of his career in academics and public service growing the profile and reach of the University of Vermont and building partnerships in the state that it serves.

Born in the United Kingdom, John Bramley graduated summa cum laude in microbiology from the University of Newcastle upon Tyne in 1971 and completed his PhD at the University of Reading in 1975. Early in his career, as a research scientist at the U.K.'s National Institute for Research in Dairying, he became an internationally recognized authority on bovine mastitis, a serious mammary gland infection and the most common infectious disease in dairy cattle. In 1985 he moved to the Institute for Animal Health in Compton, UK, leading a large multidisciplinary research group and the Division of Environmental Science. During these years he also served as visiting professor at the University of Florida and at the Universidad Austral de Chile.

Professor Bramley came to UVM in 1990 to chair the Department of Animal Sciences. He taught various courses, receiving the College of Agriculture and Life Sciences' Joseph E. Carrigan award for outstanding undergraduate teaching and advising. He and his research colleagues made history developing the world's first mastitis-resistant cattle. He also served as Secretary of the Vermont Dairy Industry Association and was inducted into the Vermont Agricultural Hall of Fame and the Vermont Academy of Science and Engineering. He was awarded a doctor of science degree by his alma mater.

In 1998 and 1999 Professor Bramley chaired the Faculty Senate, and in 1999 he was appointed Dean of the College of Agriculture and Life Sciences and Director of the Vermont Agricultural Experiment Station.

In 2001, Professor Bramley was asked by UVM interim president Ed Colodny to serve as chief academic and chief operating officer, a promotion made permanent in 2002. The university made considerable strides in academic stature and program expansion under his leadership: the Honors College, the Writing-in-the-Disciplines program, the Food Systems Initiative, and the expansion of service-learning opportunities were shaped by Professor Bramley's tenure as provost and chief academic officer, working hand in hand with President Fogel and faculty leaders.

In 2007 Professor Bramley left UVM to serve as president and CEO of the Windham Foundation, promoting Vermont's rural communities. He made strategic advances in the foundation's core business subsidiaries, oversaw the opening of its new cheese operation and retail stores, initiated the Grafton Music Festival, and vitalized the foundation's community relationships. During these years he also served on the board of other Vermont nonprofits, including Vermont Public Radio, Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Vermont, and the Lake Champlain Chamber of Commerce.

Returning to UVM as interim president in 2011, Professor Bramley stewarded the university through challenging times. He led the university's efforts in the recovery following Tropical Storm Irene and helped position UVM to thrive and excel in the face of shifting demographics and increased competition. In his one-year term as interim president, he challenged university leadership and faculty to advance transdisciplinary research, student success, and resource-allocation initiatives to secure a bright future for UVM.

Professor Bramley's view of the symbiosis between place and people that defines UVM is underscored in this passage from his 2012 UVM commencement address: "Though we are an institution with national and international reach in the students and scholars we draw and in the impact of our research endeavors, the educational experience we share with our undergraduates is very much intertwined with this Green Mountain landscape and its people. It is the values of this place that have driven and continue to drive those efforts—bedrock Vermont values of independence and self-reliance that stand on equal footing with compassion and caring, the belief in putting others before self. These are core values of this place, this state, and this university."

Researcher, educator, leader, community builder—John Bramley's contributions to Vermont's flagship university and communities have advanced UVM and created thriving partnerships across the state and beyond. His values and vision are helping to redefine the land-grant mission for the 21st century.

JACKSON CLEMMONS

Doctor of Science, honoris causa

Jackson Clemmons is a pioneer and an innovative leader, both in his profession and his avocation. Born in Beloit, Wisconsin, he attended the University of Wisconsin–Madison, earning three degrees in biochemistry: a bachelor of science, a master of science, and a doctorate. As the first African American student in the biochemistry department, he paved the way for young African American scientists and premedical students to follow.

In his master's and doctoral pursuits, Dr. Clemmons worked as a research assistant, associate, or fellow in prestigious laboratories including the University of Wisconsin, the Karolinska Institute of Biophysics and Cell Research in Stockholm, and the Sloan Kettering Institute for Cancer Research in New York. At the University of Wisconsin, Dr. Clemmons worked with Karl Paul Link as a laboratory assistant involved in the development of the anticoagulants Dicoumarol and Warfarin.

Following the achievement of his doctorate, which included work in experimental pathology, Jackson Clemmons enrolled in Western Reserve University School of Medicine, receiving his Doctor of Medicine in 1961. He twice won American Cancer Society postdoctoral fellowships, both during his medical studies and following. He also received a highly competitive Helen Hay Whitney Fellowship, which he utilized for research at both Western Reserve and at the University of Vermont Medical School, where he was initially appointed as assistant professor of pathology in 1962.

Regarded as a highly inventive and creative researcher at UVM, Doctor Clemmons often designed and built his own research equipment. He is nationally recognized for his groundbreaking work in perinatal pathology and cytogenetics. As a pathologist and the second African American on the UVM medical school faculty, he advocated for recruitment strategies to attract and retain more students and faculty of color. He served on numerous committees in his tenure at UVM, including Admissions and Student Affairs, and as an advisor to several national institutes, including the Agency of Housing and Urban Development and the National Institutes of Health. A highly regarded counsellor, role model, and inspirational mentor to his students and post-doctoral students, Dr. Clemmons influenced the research careers of many.

Arriving in Vermont in 1962 with his wife, Lydia, a nurse anesthetist, the couple purchased a 148-acre farm in Charlotte, joining a small cadre of African American farm owners nationwide. Currently in transition from a private holding to a nonprofit, the Clemmons Family Farm features six historic buildings dating to the late 1700s and mid-1800s, all beautifully improved and hand-restored over five decades by Dr. Clemmons—whose grandfather taught him the skills of the carpentry trade—and a small team of local artisans.

The physical focus of the nonprofit activities will be the 1830s-era Big Barn, the redesign of which is being led by Zena Howard, senior project manager for the National Museum of African American History & Culture in Washington, D.C. The barn's transition to a performing arts venue is underway thanks to a $350,000 grant from ArtPlace America and a barn preservation grant from the Vermont Agency for Commerce and Community Development. Several of the Clemmons' children are involved with the emerging nonprofit. The Clemmons Family Farm's mission is to create a welcoming space for all people to learn about, commune with, and celebrate African American and African diaspora art, history, and culture.

It is a fitting legacy for a family that has long put community values into action. From the time they arrived in Vermont, Jackson and Lydia Clemmons endeavored to create an enriching community of neighbors, friends, and visitors to their farm. They served as co-presidents of the Charlotte Central School PTA, and Jackson Clemmons served as school director and as vice chair of the Champlain Valley Union High School board. Together Doctor and Mrs. Clemmons travelled and volunteered in hospitals and medical centers throughout Africa from 1984 to 2005 and pursued their love of learning about the art and cultures of the continent.

Researcher, physician, educator, farmer, artisan, overseas ambassador, devoted community builder—Jackson Clemmons' decades of pioneering work are an inspiring testimony to a life lived in service to the potentials inherent in our common humanity, and to honoring the gifts that define us.

MICHELA GALLAGHER

Doctor of Science, honoris causa

Michela Gallagher, University of Vermont Graduate College 1977, has dedicated her professional life to researching and advancing the fields of cognitive psychology and neuroscience. The Alzheimer's Drug Discovery Foundation considers Professor Gallagher's groundbreaking research that has led to a late stage clinical trial to be the most promising program in their portfolio of drug development, describing her work in developing new therapies for Alzheimer's disease as "closing in on a cure."

One of the top ten leading causes of death in the United States, Alzheimer's disease has situated itself both as a looming presence in the modern psyche and as a random and seemingly unavoidable effect of aging. Characterized by the rapid decline in cognitive function—and by the lack of a definitive cause and cure—it is a disease that many are touched by, directly and indirectly.

Currently, Professor Gallagher leads a diverse team of scientists spanning both basic research and clinical studies to understand the underlying brain changes that occur with memory loss. Her work has focused on differences between normal brain aging and the progressive neurodegenerative condition of Alzheimer's disease. This work has led to a Phase 3 trial, which is the last phase of clinical development under FDA guidance. The initial patient enrollment in this trial was announced in January 2019. Professor Gallagher's therapeutic approach is to treat a condition that is transitional from normal aging to a clinical diagnosis of early dementia. By treating patients in this phase of high risk, referred to as "mild cognitive impairment" (MCI), the study is designed to track progression in participants to determine whether treatment will prevent dementia. The Alzheimer's Drug Discovery Foundation calls the study, named HOPE4MCI, the most advanced of its kind, filling "an enormous unmet clinical need."

For her work, Professor Gallagher has been awarded the Melvin R. Goodes Prize for Alzheimer's Research, which has been hailed as the first award to specifically recognize scientists pursuing innovative drug-discovery research for Alzheimer's disease.

The groundbreaking potential of her team finding a cure to Alzheimer's disease is a capstone in a lifetime of incredible achievements. In 1969, Professor Gallagher graduated as one of only two women in Colgate University's first class to include women. In 1977, she received her PhD in Physiological Psychology from the University of Vermont. Professor Gallagher taught at the University of North Carolina–Chapel Hill for 17 years before joining Johns Hopkins University, where she has been teaching and researching for the last 20 years. She served as chair of the Johns Hopkins Department of Psychological and Brain Science, and also served for four years as Vice Provost of Academic Affairs and Faculty for the University. She is the Krieger-Eisenhower Professor of Psychological and Brain Sciences and Director of the Neurogenetics and Behavior Center at Johns Hopkins.

Professor Gallagher's 40 years of scientific work have made her a leader in the realm of brain studies: she specializes in understanding the neurobiology of learning, memory, and the aging brain. In 2008 she founded AgeneBio, a company that specializes in drug discovery and development, conducting clinical trials under FDA registration with the goal of commercializing novel therapeutics. She now serves as a scientific advisor and holds a position on the company's board of directors.

HOPE4MCI is a potential crack in the glass ceiling of Alzheimer's disease treatment, proof of Professor Gallagher's diligence and accomplishments as a scientist and researcher. She is also widely recognized as a superior mentor. In her devotion to education, she is training the next generation of scientists, sparking their passion for studying the brain and helping guide them to their full potential. Thus far in her career, she has mentored nearly 50 pre- and post-doctoral scientists, who themselves are now influencing academia and industry. For her efforts in actively promoting the professional advancement of her mentees, in 2014 Professor Gallagher was awarded the Mika Salpeter Lifetime Achievement Award by the Society for Neuroscience.

Professor Michela Gallagher's devotion to understanding the mechanisms of disease and healing in human neuroscience are bringing us closer to an intervention for Alzheimer's disease, potentially affecting the well-being of millions around the world. Her steadfast focus and promising breakthroughs offer hope to humanity for changing the course of one of the most prevalent and devastating neurological conditions of our time.

MARCELLE LEAHY

Doctor of Laws, honoris causa

Marcelle Leahy, the daughter of French-Canadian parents who emigrated to Vermont from Quebec, is the warm, egalitarian, behind-the-scenes support and guide to the most senior member of the United States Senate, Vermont senator Patrick Leahy. For more than 55 years Marcelle Leahy has served as the senator's most trusted confidante and the magnanimous presence by his side, as together they have advocated for justice, economic and educational opportunity, health care access and equality, and many other pressing concerns of our time.

Throughout her career, Mrs. Leahy, a licensed registered nurse, has contributed her skills and insights to medical organizations in Vermont and Virginia. She served on the board of directors for the Vermont Visiting Nurse Association and the Vermont Nursing Initiatives Project and as a member of the advisory council of the Norwich University School of Nursing. For nearly twenty years she has served as a member of the UVM College of Nursing and Health Sciences Board of Advisors.

Her perspectives as an advisor are formed not only by her medical expertise as a nurse but also by her experiences as a cancer patient and survivor of melanoma. UVM College of Nursing and Health Sciences dean Patricia Prelock praises Mrs. Leahy's ability to give direction and feedback on patient- and family-centered care. In Dean Prelock's words, "She is a rational thinker who sees the issues, understands perspectives, formulates possible directions, and also has heart—trusting the leaders to make their best decisions, and checking in along the way."

Mrs. Leahy has been instrumental in advocating for a program of simulation activities for UVM students across the health disciplines and the Vermont National Guard, to best prepare health providers and first responders for their initial hands-on work experiences in the field. She is also the honorary chair of the Vermont National Guard Family Readiness and Support Program, offering leadership and inspiration to a cadre of volunteers helping National Guard member families to maintain stability and continuity before, during, and following deployment.

Transforming personal experience into public effort, Mrs. Leahy is a strong supporter of cancer research and of adjunct services to children with cancer. She currently serves on the board of the Prevent Cancer Foundation and has been on the board of Tracy's Kids—a nonprofit organization that provides art therapy to children with cancer and their siblings—since the organization's inception in 1991.

Mrs. Leahy is respected for her ability to bring people together across political boundaries to work toward common goals. A longtime member of Senator Leahy's staff described the depth to which the Leahys are considered a team. As the senior member of the Senate, Patrick Leahy is often asked to headline events—the operative question in fielding those requests is: "Is Marcelle able to do it with him? Because if she is, it means the event is going to be good." With art therapy as a shared interest, Mrs. Leahy introduced Karen Pence, wife of vice president Mike Pence, at the organization's annual fundraiser. They participated in a ceremonial ribbon-cutting for a new Tracy's Kids program that will be starting at Walter Reed military hospital, to serve children of military families.

In addition to her leadership with Tracy's Kids, Mrs. Leahy is an active arts ambassador. She is a longtime board member of the Washington National Opera at the Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts. As a member of the board of Meridian International Center, she co-curated an exhibit with the Tehran Museum of Contemporary Art, with the intent to increase understanding between our countries through the visual arts.

For more than fifty years Marcelle Leahy has served Vermont and our nation as a frontline healthcare provider, an active board member and advocate in health services, a vocal cancer survivor and educator, an engaged supporter of the National Guard, and a widely respected partner to Vermont's Democratic senator. Marcelle Leahy lives the values the University of Vermont holds high for dedicated public service.

DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION

CONSTRUCTIVIST EDUCATOR AWARD given to the undergraduate student who consistently fosters a brave and progressive approach to early education that upholds the values of social constructivism. This student endeavors to make teaching an inspired opportunity for children to make meaning and be an agent of their own experience. This student ensures that teaching and learning are socially relevant, passion-based, active and innovative.

Michaela Jacki Eckler

COLLABORATION AND PROFESSIONALISM AWARD given to the undergraduate student who demonstrates outstanding teaming skills and professionalism in the classroom. This student's interactions with children, family members and colleagues are characterized by shared leadership, mutual respect, responsiveness and a great spirit of collaboration. This student personifies the value in early education that "none of us is smarter than all of us." (anonymous)

Katherine Susan Kruse

SPIRIT OF EDUCATION AWARD given to the undergraduate student who consistently embodies a positive, strength-based attitude in the face of complex and often challenging work. This award recipient's interactions with children, family members, and colleagues are characterized by warmth, amiability and cultural competence, which serve as an inspiration to others.

Annie Resnikoff

ELEMENTARY EDUCATION AWARD given to students who have consistently demonstrated high academic achievement and outstanding performance in the classroom with regard to management, planning, and professionalism.

Danielle Jillian Dennis
Emily Jayne Evenson

ELEMENTARY EDUCATION DIVERSITY AWARD given to senior students whose outstanding work especially exemplifies the program theme: Teaching All Children Strategically in Diverse Communities. These students have an awareness of the unique contributions of each child in the classroom and demonstrate commitment to include and celebrate diversity.

Emma Stefana Lavenberg
Nicole Marie Lewis

ENGAGED SCHOLARSHIP AWARD given to the undergraduate student who exemplifies an unwavering spirit of joy in the process of teaching and learning. This student passionately demonstrates a commitment to evidence-based practice as they foster the engagement and competence of children, families, and communities. This student is not only prepared for daily responsibilities, but actively promotes the kind of learning environment that indelibly impacts each and every participant.

Jacob Paul Houde

JOHN DEWEY IN ELEMENTARY EDUCATION AWARD given to students whose academic performance and public school practice exemplify the philosophy of Vermont's well known philosopher and educator. These students demonstrate the belief that children are active participants, rather than passive receivers of education.

Matthew P. Karp
Shayna McMahon
Nora Theresa Birner

LEADERSHIP FOR SOCIAL CHANGE AWARD bestowed upon two students in the Elementary Education Program at the University of Vermont who exemplify a spirit of social justice. These students exhibit the qualities necessary to create change for children and families toward a more just and equitable future. Students who receive this award are celebrated as they have gone above and beyond serving in schools and/or the larger community as champions for social justice, and have the potential for true, transformative leadership.

Gabriella Coppola Flynn
Tonia Crawford

REFLECTIVE PRACTITIONER AWARD given to two students who have embraced a growth mindset through the use of reflective practice and feedback to grow and develop their teaching skills. These students have demonstrated the ability to consistently refine and strengthen their pedagogy during their professional coursework.

Victoria Pape Zimmer
Kaitlyn Teresa Young

AL MYERS EXCELLENCE IN TEACHING AWARD presented to the individuals who exemplify Al Myers' dedication to the field of middle level education and his deep commitment to students. Recipients of this award demonstrate commitment, passion, patience, work ethic, creativity and enthusiasm for constructing exemplary learning opportunities for young adolescents.

Peter Guggenberger
Mariah Sorci

CHRIS STEVENSON AWARD FOR COMMITMENT TO YOUNG ADOLESCENTS given on an annual basis to the students who demonstrate the dedication and commitment to middle level students, exemplified in the work of the program's founder, Chris Stevenson. Recipients of the award are advocates for young adolescents; they understand the developmental uniqueness of young adolescents and are as knowledgeable about their students as they are about the subject areas that they teach.

Julia Okrant

TEACHING FOR SOCIAL CHANGE AWARD given on an annual basis to students who demonstrate a commitment to teaching for social change by emphasizing social justice and/or sustainability in their teaching. Recipients understand how to engage young adolescents in meaningful learning experiences designed to engage them as active citizens.

Julia Okrant

ACADEMIC ACHIEVEMENT IN SECONDARY EDUCATION AWARD given to graduating seniors who have demonstrated outstanding performance throughout their time in the Secondary Education program, while also earning the highest grade point average.

Rachel E. Slimovitch

JANET BOSSANGE AWARD FOR ADVOCACY AND ENGAGEMENT IN SECONDARY EDUCATION given to a graduating senior who has demonstrated an understanding of the power of engagement and advocacy in meeting the needs of all learners. This award is given in honor of a colleague who demonstrated a commitment to the ideals of John Dewey through her teaching and field practice. Dr. Janet Bossange spent her entire career focusing on the power of the individual in a democratic society. Janet believed that only through advocacy and engagement could teacher education candidates truly make a difference in the lives of all learners.

James Edward Hayden

THE J.T. CALIBER AWARD established in the spring of 2014 to recognize students who embody the values of the Secondary Education program. Students who demonstrate perseverance, a commitment to improving professional practice, a student-centered and creative approach to teaching, and a sense of humor are eligible recipients for this award.

Mariel DiMidio

OUTSTANDING ART EDUCATION STUDENT AWARD given to the student who embodies the highest academic and field work achievement. This student demonstrates a commitment to providing and advocating for rich visual art experiences that enrich the lives of individual students, schools, and communities. Academic achievement throughout their college years is highly considered, but student work in the field and their general contribution to the spirit of the Art Education Program is also considered.

Julia Dalenberg

DEPARTMENT OF LEADERSHIP AND DEVELOPMENTAL SCIENCES

OUTSTANDING UNDERGRADUATE TEACHING ASSISTANT AWARD presented to a student who exceeds responsibilities and expectations and demonstrates exceptional personal and professional growth.

Adele Patricia Hohertz-Serpan

HUMAN DEVELOPMENT AND FAMILY STUDIES ENGAGED STUDENT AWARD presented to a HDFS student who demonstrates exemplary understanding of the field, deep commitment to learning and helping others learn, and motivation to improve the HDFS experience at UVM.

Gabriella Battaglia

HUMAN DEVELOPMENT AND FAMILY STUDIES EMERGING PROFESSIONAL AWARD presented to HDFS students who demonstrate excellence in application of HDFS principles to internship assignments and practice.

Courtney Wright
India H. Hammerslough

HUMAN DEVELOPMENT AND FAMILY STUDIES EMERGING SCHOLAR AWARD presented to a HDFS student who makes substantial contributions to research and demonstrate excellence in critical thinking, analysis, and presentation of results.

Claire G. Crowley

HUMAN DEVELOPMENT AND FAMILY STUDIES EXEMPLARY SERVICE AWARD presented to HDFS students whose service to the Program, the College, UVM or the community promotes a more humane and just experience and quality of life.

Adele Patricia Hohertz-Serpan

THE KENNETH P. SAURMAN MEMORIAL AWARD is presented to a Higher Education and Student Affairs Administration graduate student who has a) shown a record of outstanding achievement; b) demonstrated ability to make outstanding future professional contributions at both local and national levels; c) demonstrated future ability to make outstanding intellectual contributions to the field in the areas of research and scholarship; d) shown evidence of having fostered a sense of community and cooperation among peers, staff, and faculty; and e) shown evidence of outstanding contribution to the University through internship and practical experience.

Arnelle Faye Sambile

HIGHER EDUCATION AND STUDENT AFFAIRS VOICE OF PASSION AWARD honors the contribution of a graduate student in the Higher Education and Student Affairs Administration program who demonstrates an outspoken passion for issues of leadership and social justice. Individuals who receive this award have shown strong communication and mentoring skills in their professional roles in our campus community.

Vivianna Lee Alvarez

THE FACULTY CUP IN EDUCATIONAL LEADERSHIP awarded annually to the student who demonstrates outstanding participation, academic performance, and commitment to program initiatives.

Caroline Alexandra Weaver

GEORGE WASHINGTON HENDERSON EDUCATION LEADERSHIP AWARD established in tribute to the memory of George Washington Henderson (Class of 1877), who was among the first African American students to graduate from the University of Vermont and become a school administrator. This award is given by faculty in the Educational Leadership and Policy Studies Program to a graduating master's student who demonstrates a keen understanding of social justice issues and aspires to become a leader of a learning organization.

Cecelia H. Puleio

GRADUATE AWARD IN EDUCATION AND PUBLIC AFFAIRS presented by faculty to two master's students who best exemplify an understanding of integrated education public affairs. This award signifies a core tenet of the Graduate Program in Educational Leadership and Policy Studies, that high quality educational services must be administered in partnership with other mental health and human services.

Sharon Lifschutz

THE HERMAN B. MEYERS EXCELLENCE IN DOCTORAL POLICY RESEARCH AWARD honors the legacy of "Bud" Meyers, a professor in Educational Leadership and Policy Studies from 1971 to 2008, Vermont Deputy Commissioner of Education from 2000 to 2006, and who served as Director of the James M. Jeffords Center for Policy Research from 2009 to 2013. This award is presented annually to a student whose dissertation research demonstrates outstanding achievement in the area of policy studies. Through the dissertation writing process, the recipient of this award best demonstrates the legacy of scholarship and research that contributes to the advancement of educational or social services policy and practice.

Andrew B. Jones

OUTSTANDING DISSERTATION AWARD IN EDUCATIONAL LEADERSHIP recognizes a student whose dissertation research significantly advances new ideas and contributes to the knowledge and understanding of theories and practices in the field of Educational Leadership. The award is given to a student who exhibits a keen understanding of social justice issues and whose research contributes to the College of Education and Social Services' doctoral programs mission of preparing leaders who will contribute to creating more equitable and just schools and institutions of higher learning.

Advisor: Dr. Kimberly F. Wallin

David Gudex-Cross, Fond du Lac, WI
BS, University of Wisconsin 2008; MS, Massey University 2011
Dissertation: Remote Sensing Methods and Applications for Detecting Change in Forest Ecosystems
Advisor: Dr. Jennifer Pontius

Courtney Ryder Hammond Wagner, Huntington, VT
BA, Dartmouth College 2011
Dissertation: Governing Water Quality Limits in Agricultural Watersheds
Advisors: Dr. William 'Breck' Bowden, Dr. Asim Zia

Charles Casey Nicholson, Northampton, MA
BA, Skidmore College 2010
Dissertation: No Farm is an Island: Pollinators and Pollination in Agricultural Landscapes
Advisor: Dr. Taylor H. Ricketts

Brian Patrick O'Malley, Westfield, MA
BS, State University of New York College of Environmental Science and Forestry 2011
Dissertation: Evaluation of Mysis Partial Diel Vertical Migration
Advisor: Dr. Jason D. Stockwell

Elizabeth B. Palchak, Marshall, MI
BA, The College of Wooster 2001; MS, Antioch University New England 2007
Dissertation: An Analysis of Energy Transitions at Different Scales: Fossil Fuel Divestment in Higher Education and Individual Behavior
Advisor: Dr. Stephanie Kaza

Samuel P. Parker, Bethlehem, PA
BS, The University of Vermont 2009
Dissertation: Patterns, Processes, and Scale: An Evaluation of Ecological and Biogeochemical Functions Across and Arctic Stream Network
Advisor: Dr. William Breck Bowden

Linyuan Shang, Xinxiang, China
BA, Wuhan University 2008; MS, Chinese Academy of Sciences 2011
Dissertation: Climate Change and Land Use/Cover Change Impacts on Watershed Hydrology, Nutrient Dynamics- A Case Study in Missisquoi River Watershed
Advisor: Dr. Carol Adair

Matthew Christopher Hamm Vaughan, Pittsford, NY
BA, Middlebury College 2009; MS, University of California, Davis 2013
Dissertation: Shining Light on the Storm: Using High-Frequency Optical Water Quality Sensors to Characterize and Interpret Storm Nutrient and Carbon Dynamics Among Contrasting Land Uses
Advisor: Dr. Andrew W. Schroth

NEUROSCIENCE

Nicholas C. D'Alberto, Stillwater, NY
BS, Hobart College 2013
Dissertation: Examining Inter- and Intra-Individual Differences in the Neurobiological Mechanisms Associated with Inhibitory Control
Advisor: Dr. Hugh Garavan

Gregory Charles Johnson, Ridgewood, NJ
BA, Williams College 2012
Dissertation: The Role of Pituitary Adenylate Cyclase Activating Polypeptide in the Dentate Gyrus in Regulating Behavior and Neurophysiology
Advisor: Dr. Sayamwong E. Hammack

Megan Laura Shipman, Barre, VT
BA, Hartwick College 2011
Dissertation: The Role of the Prelimbic, Infralimbic, and Cerebellar Cortices in Operant Behavior
Advisor: Dr. John T. Green

Riley Mann St. Clair, Red Lodge, MT
BA, University of Montana 2013
Dissertation: Biochemical and Functional Characterization of Semaphorin6A-PlexinA Signaling in Zebrafish Eye Development
Advisor: Dr. Bryan A. Ballif

PLANT AND SOIL SCIENCE

Caleb P. Goossen, Bennington, VT
BA, Hampshire College 2009
Dissertation: Management Factors Influence on the Fatty Acid Content and Composition of Forages
Advisor: Dr. Sidney C. Bosworth

Elisabeth Ann Hodgdon, Hartford, VT
BS, McGill University 2009; MS, University of New Hampshire 2013
Dissertation: Evaluation of Candidate Pheromone Blends for Mating Disruption of the Invasive Swede Midge (Contarinia nasturtii)
Advisor: Dr. Yolanda H. Chen

Chase Stratton, Richmond, VA
BS, Virginia Commonwealth University 2013
Dissertation: Repelling Contarinia nasturtii (Diptera: Cecidomyiidae), a Brassica Specialist, Using Non-Host Essential Oils
Advisor: Dr. Yolanda H. Chen

Rebecca Tharp, Williston, VT
BA, Harvard University 2004; MS, The University of Vermont 2011
Dissertation: Ecological Stormwater Management: Analysis of Design Components to Improve Understanding and Performance of Stormwater Retention Ponds
Advisor: Dr. Stephanie Hurley

PLANT BIOLOGY

Sanhita Chakraborty, Kolkata, India
BS, University of Calcutta 2008; MS, University of Calcutta 2010
Dissertation: Intersection of Salt Signaling with Nodule Initiation and Maturation during Medicago truncatula-Sinorhizobium meliloti Symbiosis
Advisor: Dr. Jeanne M. Harris

Suryatapa Ghosh Jha, Kolkata, India
BS, Presidency College 2004; MS, University of Calcutta 2006
Dissertation: Characterization of a Novel VPS26C-Retromer Complex and its Interaction with an Endosomal Trafficking Pathway Regulated by the Snare VTI13 in Controlling Polarized Growth and Cell Wall Organization in Arabidopsis thaliana
Advisor: Dr. Mary L. Tierney

PSYCHOLOGY

Cecilia Bergeria, Stafford, VA
BS, James Madison University 2013; MA, The University of Vermont 2016
Dissertation: Evaluating the Predictive Utility of the Modified Cigarette Evaluation Questionnaire and the Cigarette Purchase Task for Predicting Acute Relative Reinforcing Efficacy in Cigarettes Which Vary in Nicotine Content
Advisor: Dr. Sarah H. Heil

GRADUATE COLLEGE AWARDS TO GRADUATES

GRADUATE TEACHING ASSISTANT OF THE YEAR AWARDS recognize the accomplishments of GTAs who have demonstrated unusual excellence and creativity in their teaching and commitment to student learning. Two awards are given each year, one for a GTA who has served as the primary instructor in a lecture-based course, and one for a GTA who has served as a laboratory or field instructor. Outstanding GTAs are nominated by their departments and programs.

Katherine van Stolk-Cooke, Clinical Psychology
Lauren Ash, Biology

THESIS AND DISSERTATION AWARDS are presented to students whose work shows exceptional quality and will impact scholarship in their field of study.

OUTSTANDING MASTER'S THESIS AWARD
Lukas Adamowicz, Functional Rotation Axis Based Approach for Estimating Hip Joint Angles Using Wearable Inertial Sensors: Comparison to Existing Methods
Advisor: Ryan S. McGinnis, PhD

OUTSTANDING DOCTORAL DISSERTATION AWARD
Sarah E. Cleary, PhD, Fragmentation, Rearrangement, and C-H Insertion: Reactions of Vinyl Cations Derived from Diazo Carbonyls

Honor Societies and Scholars Programs

PHI BETA KAPPA

Phi Beta Kappa, a national honor society dedicated to honoring high academic achievement for liberal arts students, was founded at the College of William and Mary in 1776. It is the nation's first Greek-letter society and is the oldest and most respected academic honorary society. UVM's chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, the Alpha of Vermont, was established in 1848; it is the eleventh oldest chapter on the national rolls of Phi Beta Kappa, and the first chapter to admit both African- Americans and women to its membership.

Academic Regalia

THE ACADEMIC COSTUME worn today in U.S. colleges and universities is a survivor of the Middle Ages. The University of Vermont was among the first in this country to experiment with the use of academic gowns, requiring their wearing at the graduation of 1806. The experiment was not repeated until mid-century when UVM and other colleges began wholeheartedly to use the medieval scholar's clothing for ceremonial occasions.

The code regulating academic costume is administered by an intercollegiate commission that establishes uniform standards. BACHELORS' gowns have closed fronts and long, pointed sleeves. MASTERS' gowns may be worn open or closed and have oblong sleeves open at the wrist, the lower portion hanging down with an arc near the bottom. DOCTORS' gowns may be open or closed and have velvet facings and three velvet bars on the round, open sleeves. The facings and bars may be of black or of the official colors of the wearer's department of learning.

Hoods are usually black. All are lined in silk in the academic color or colors of the institution conferring the degree, with a chevron for additional colors. A University of Vermont hood is lined with green, with a gold chevron, the official school colors. The color of the hood border indicates the degree earned.

THE BLACK MORTARBOARD is worn for all degrees. Only Doctors' caps may be made of velvet and only Doctors or Presidents of institutions may wear a gold tassel on the cap.

THE CLASS OF 1927 MEMORIAL MACE is carried by the University Marshal at formal university occasions and is displayed on the platform during these ceremonies.

The Mace, a gift from the Class of 1927, is forty-seven inches long, cast bronze, plated in silver, with a black ebony handle. The sculpture on one of the four sides depicts the center section of Old Mill with Mt. Mansfield in the background, symbolizing the founding of the University. Other sides display three students reaching upwards to a lamp, symbolic of learning; the Ira Allen Chapel, symbolizing spiritual guidance; and a group of four persons, symbolizing friendship. It is crowned by the seal of the University.

The Mace was designed and the model sculpted by Richard Simpson, son of Carl G. and Doris Griffith Simpson, both members of the Class of 1927.

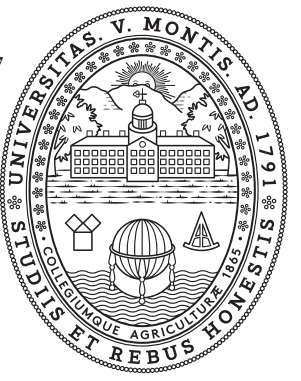
THE UNIVERSITY SEAL or Medallion was adopted in 1807 and used until 1871 when it was replaced by a round seal incorporating the name of the College of Agriculture. In 1975 the Board of Trustees voted to restore the original seal to official use, modified to incorporate the Latin name of the College of Agriculture.



The motto on the seal is from Horace, Epistles 1.2.36. Literally, it means "For virtuous studies and matters." In the allusion to Horace's poem it reflects UVM's continuing belief in the utility and practicality of all liberal studies.

UVM ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

May 19, 2019

Dear Graduates, Families, and Friends,

It is a distinct pleasure for me to congratulate the Class of 2019 and to welcome you into the UVM Alumni Association. Today you join nearly 117,000 UVM graduates who live and work in every state in the nation and over 100 countries around the world. Wherever your life and travels take you, rest assured that there is a Catamount nearby.

The University of Vermont is a special place and each of you has contributed to the fabric of this university during your time in Burlington. I have three requests of you to build upon this continuity.

- I ask you to proudly display your diploma to let the world know you are a graduate of the University of Vermont.
- I ask that you help us enroll the next generation of Catamounts and encourage others to find their way to this special university.
- Finally, please stay connected. Visit the UVM Alumni Association's web page at alumni.uvm.edu for all the ways you can connect with fellow Catamounts.

Most importantly, celebrate this moment as the beginning of an exciting new chapter in your lives. You will make the world a better place, guided by the knowledge and values celebrated at this wonderful university. Go forth and prosper!

With best wishes,

Penrose Jackson '70
President, UVM Alumni Association

Tune: Jane Oppenlander | Text: David Cox

From the lofty peaks of Mansfield to the shores of Lake Champlain, comes a mighty swelling chorus,
whose echo will remain:

Vermont! Vermont! Vermont!
Our University!
Thy loyal sons and daughters
sing in love and praise to Thee!

Vermont! Vermont! Vermont!
Our University!
Thy loyal sons and daughters
sing in love and praise to Thee!

Shadows falling 'cross the campus,
changing seasons' wond'rous scene,
stir our thoughts of Alma Mater,
and her colors Gold and Green:

Vermont! Vermont! Vermont!
Our University!
Thy loyal sons and daughters
sing in love and praise to Thee!

Vermont! Vermont! Vermont!
Our University!
Thy loyal sons and daughters
sing in love and praise to Thee!
