B.A. in Anthropology (Anthropology of Global Health Concentration)

This is merely one suggested route to completing a major in Anthropology. The path followed by students will depend on their how soon they enter the major, their desired pace, other academic plans, study-abroad travel, etc. The exact courses taken will depend on individual interests in consultation with an academic advisor in the department.

All students are recommended to take both the proseminars, ANTH 105 and ANTH 205 to assist them in planning for their professional goals. Students planning to pursue an ANTH graduate degree are encouraged to take an appropriate mixture of 200‐level methods and theory courses, as well as undertake research. Consult your advisor for recommendations tailored to your graduate school objectives.

MAJOR = 34 credits including:

- 4 CORE courses: ANTH 101, 102, 111, 112, 113
