Why buy a computer through UVM?

The UVM “Computer Depot” ...

- is a not-for-profit University department devoted exclusively to the needs of students, faculty and staff
- sells systems that are ready to work on UVM's campus network
- has an on-campus showroom, repair facility, and help clinic
- sells systems that meet UVM's published standards for support
- has been an authorized dealer for the systems it sells since 1985
- values customer satisfaction and service

What kind of computer should I buy?

Should I buy Mac or PC? Consider the following:

- What system are you familiar with now? Your first semester at UVM will be a very busy time; you may not want to try learning a new operating system during this time.
- Chances are very good that all of the computers purchased through the Computer Depot will meet your computing needs during your academic career at UVM.
- What software do you need to use? Some programs are available only for Windows or only for Macintosh. Many, including Microsoft Office, run on both.
- Does your college or academic department have a requirement or recommendation?
