RE: Thanksgiving wishes

As we look forward to spending time in gratitude with family and friends this coming Thanksgiving holiday, Leslie and I offer our appreciation to thank each of you for your talents, ideas, creativity, and daily actions that together make the collective fabric of our UVM community.

We are fortunate to have the opportunity to work together toward addressing the critical issues of our time—through the teaching and study of the humanities, science, and art; through scholarship, research, discussion, and applied learning. Our shared Common Ground values, which I see expressed every day across campus, underpin our worthy pursuits, giving us a foundational groundwork for being in community as we learn with and from each other.

Leslie and I have deep gratitude for each of you and the community that we build together. We hope you have a Thanksgiving holiday filled with gratitude and joy.

With special thanks and appreciation to each of you.
