From:  Tom Sullivan
To:    University of Vermont Community
Re:    President’s 2014/2015 Annual Report

This summer I hope each of you will take a moment to peruse the President's 2014/2015 Annual Report and to congratulate your colleagues and friends whose remarkable accomplishments fill these pages.

This report offers an impressive overview of our achievements as a thriving institution of higher education and an academic community committed to enhancing quality. The University of Vermont faculty, staff, students, and alumni highlighted here are just a few of the outstanding individuals who received recognition for their work over the course of the past year. This selection of accolades represents just a portion of the high quality, depth, and diversity of research, scholarship, fine arts, public service, and leadership that is ongoing across the University.

As you know, the UVM family is comprised of thousands of dedicated people who contribute in many ways to the strength and vibrancy of the University. I hope all of our UVM friends and family will feel a strong sense of pride knowing that their efforts made these year’s significant accomplishments possible.