Re: Veterans Day

Today we honor the service and sacrifice of the veterans of the University of Vermont community. As you know, veterans serve in departments and units across the University, and we have increasing numbers of student veterans at UVM. We are fortunate to have these brave men and women enrich our campus community with their experiences.

Already this morning, the Student Veterans Organization (SVO) with assistance from the SGA and ROTC have begun placing the flags for the University’s annual participation in the National Remembrance Roll Call. They will read the names of the members of the armed forces who have died since 9/11 beginning at 9:45 a.m. I will be hosting the third annual luncheon to recognize the members of our UVM community who are veterans. Additionally, a Veterans Day Reception organized by the SVO will be held in Waterman Memorial Lounge beginning at 2:30 p.m. All UVM community members are welcome and encouraged to attend.

I hope that you will take a moment today to thank the veterans of UVM for their service. We are proud to have these national heroes making significant contributions to the advancement of this University and the State of Vermont.
