

ARIANA M. CANO

PhD. Student

University of Vermont – Rubenstein School of the Environment and Natural Resources
312-6 Aiken Center, 81 Carrigan Drive, Burlington VT 05405
954.608.8096 acano316@gmail.com

EDUCATION

2018-Expected Graduation	University of Vermont, Burlington, VT Ph.D., Natural Resources
2015	University of Vermont, Burlington, VT M.S, Natural Resources—Environment Society and Public Affairs.
2013	Florida State University, Tallahassee, FL B.S, Political Science; minor in International Relations B.A, Editing, Writing and Media; minor in French

RESEARCH AND PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

Fall 2016- present	Researcher; Debunking the Rational Actor: Replicating Three Classic Psychological Experiments with Environmental Students
Fall 2014-present	Research Assistant; Attitude Ambivalence in Cape Cod National Seashore
2015-2016	Chair; RSENR Community and Sustainability Committee
Spring 2016	Bernie Sanders Presidential Campaign Latino Outreach Department
2013-2015	Research Assistant; Intervale Food Hub: Impacts of Engagement in Community Supported Agriculture toward the Sustainable Food Movement.
Fall 2013-Spring 2014	Spanish Translator University of Vermont, Burlington VT Translate surveys, interviews, and transcribe documents from Spanish to English.
2013-2015	Eco-Reps Coordinator, University of Vermont Office of Sustainability, Burlington VT Coordinate Eco-Reps program at the University of Vermont. Assess student projects, mentor undergraduate students. Work as a liaison between Student Life, Residential Life, and the Office of Sustainability.
2013	Outreach Intern; Food and Water Watch, Washington D.C
2013	Reviewer; Florida State University Teaching Award
2011-2013	Campaign Coordinator; Take Back the Tap, Tallahassee FL
2010-2013	Florida State Office of Sustainability, Tallahassee FL

Student Outreach Program Coordinator

TEACHING EXPERIENCE

- 2017 Instructed: Adaptation to Climate Change (25 students), responsible for teaching 1 full credit course, University of Vermont.
- 2016 Teaching Assistant: Communities, Conservation and Development in Costa Rica (18 students)—Service learning study abroad course, University of Vermont.
- 2014-2015 Instructed: Eco-Reps (40 students), University of Vermont
- 2014 Co-Instructed: Sustainable Marketing (30 students), University of Vermont
- 2014 Discussion Leader: Nature and Culture (60 students), University of Vermont
- 2013 Teaching Assistant: Ecology (100 students), University of Vermont

HONORS AND AWARDS

- 2016 Graduate Program Outstanding Service Award, University of Vermont
- 2014 Rubenstein School of Environment and Natural Resources Mini-Grant
- 2013-Present Gund Institute for Ecological Economics Student Fellow
- 2013 Garnet and Gold Honor Society
- 2013 Florida State University Featured Student Profile
- 2013 Golden Key Society
- 2013 Seminole Torchbearer
- 2013 Florida State Outstanding Leadership Award
- 2012 Florida State Social Science Service Award

PROFESSIONAL SOCIETIES AND AFFILIATIONS

- Gund Institute of Ecological Economics
- International Association for Society and Natural Resources
- McIntire-Stennis Capacity Grant

CONFERENCE PRESENTATIONS

- 2017 ISSRM; The Cost of Attitude Indifference toward Non-Native Insect Threats. Umea, Sweden.
- 2016 ECANUSA; Understanding Attitude Strength Indicators to Predict Social Acceptability of Management Intervention of Invasive Insects in the New England Forest. Burlington, Vermont.
- 2016 ISSRM; Attitude Strength and its Effect on Management Acceptability of Invasive Insects. Houghton, Michigan.
- 2013 Clinton Global Initiative; Poster Presentation: Living Green Guide FSU. George Washington University. District of Columbia.
- 2013 ACC Leadership Conference; FSU Representative. University of North Carolina, North Carolina

VOLUNTEER AND COMMUNITY INVOLVEMENT

Pine Island Goat Farm. Volunteer with New American farmers to work throughout the winter months to upkeep the farm.

All Breed Rescue. Assist with the up-keeping the shelter for rescued dogs. Assist during adoption events.