Interdependence between Field Experiences and Practice Courses
All students enrolled in the 'field' (SWSS 173/174, SWSS 290, SWSS 390) are required to also be enrolled in the corresponding 'practice' and seminar courses (undergraduates - SWSS 168/169 and 171/172, foundation graduates - SWSS 212/213, and concentration graduates - SWSS 314/315).

If students are in a situation where they are retaking the field course or finishing up an 'incomplete' grade in the field, even if they have passed the corresponding practice course, they are still required to participate in that practice course. If this is the case, it is the responsibility of the field education coordinator and the faculty field liaison to meet with the practice course instructor(s) prior to the beginning of the semester to decide together what the student's participation in that course will entail. Specifically, the decisions will be with regard to which section of the course the student will participate in, what assignment responsibilities the student will have, and what the attendance expectations are. The faculty field liaison will meet with the student and outline the student's responsibilities so that they can be incorporated into the student's Learning Agreement and eventually the final field grade.
