Student Requested Placement Change

Students may request a change in field placement if for any reason they believe there will be significant challenges or barriers toward the completion of the learning objectives put forth in the syllabus. Although every effort is made to ensure a successful experience, unforeseen difficulties sometimes do arise and will be explored thoroughly with the student, field instructor and faculty field liaison. The final decision about the placement change (and the circumstances to follow) will be made by the field education coordinator following one or several conferences with the faculty field liaison and the student.
