Be a part of High Mowing's spring spinach trials! High Mowing is hosting a workshop at their Trial Gardens in Wolcott to let growers in on new and upcoming varieties that may be available as NOP organic seed in the future. It will be a great opportunity to connect with HMS staff and other growers to learn more about growing spinach, pests, and disease, breeding varieties and the current state of the spinach seed industry. In addition, High Mowing would like feedback and suggestions from professional growers to inform their selection of varieties available in future years. There will be a number of varieties in the field for review. This workshop is geared for professional growers. Presented by Heather Jerrett, R&D Trials Manager, Tom Stearns, President, and the HMS Sales Team.
