These prices are based on individual reports from commercial growers and buyers in Vermont. They are only estimates of the 'most common' prices recently received by growers; there can be considerable variation depending on: time of the growing season, market location, specific buyers, product quality, and conditions affecting supply and demand at the time of sale such as weather and product availability from nearby growing areas, etc.

*add 25% to the conventional wholesale prices shown for certified organic crops, unless otherwise noted.
