

Talks at the Public Health Research Scholars Symposium in Guatemala

Undergraduate student Julia Hobson and recent graduate Robin Hicks presented talks at the Public Health Research Scholars Symposium at the Laboratorio de Entomología Aplicada y Parasitología -LENAP, held in Guatemala City, Guatemala, 15 June 2009. The titles of their talks were "Genetic population structure of Triatoma dimidiata" and "Analysis of Feeding of Chagas Disease Vectors from California, USA". Graduate student David Lucero, undergraduate students Jacob Barker, Naomi Pollica and Suma Desu, and Professor Lori Stevens co-authored the presentations.