Landmark is a coeducational, private, residential high school for students with language-based learning disabilities. We are situated twenty miles north of Boston on Massachusetts’ historic North Shore. There are currently 300 students attending the high school campus of Landmark, making us one of the largest and most highly respected schools for students with learning disabilities in the nation.

Students at the school come from a variety of national, ethnic, and economic backgrounds. Each student has average to above average intelligence, but also has a language-based learning disability that has made education a very difficult process. Landmark takes pride in remediating (teaching) the basic skills while immersing the student in a high school curriculum.

In 1945, Vrest and Ellen Orton printed their first catalog - just 12 pages and 36 products - and mailed it to the folks on their Christmas card list. Vrest, a frugal Yankee at heart, insisted that the merchandise be durable and above all practical. His wife Ellen, who grew up on the Wilcox dairy farm in nearby Manchester, Vermont, made certain the new business was as practical as the products it sold. Catalog orders came rolling in. To complement the mail-order business, Vrest and Ellen Orton opened The Vermont Country Store in Weston, Vermont, in 1946. Today, The Vermont Country Store is owned by Lyman Orton and sons Cabot, Gardner, and Eliot, who adhere to the old-fashioned values set forth by Vrest and take pride in being The Purveyors of the Practical and Hard-to-Find.
