“Toda Mi Vida” by Tomás Sanchez
Influenced by the mediums of illustration, graphic design, tattoo and sculpture, UVM staff member, Tomás Sanchez presents his work focusing on people who have influenced his life, reflections on the state of America post 9/11. From close to the border in Texas to a new frontera “up north,” this exhibit explores the artist’s racial and ethnic identity through graphic novel formats and by using the imagery of a Mexican game called la Lotería.

March 4 – 29, 2013
“Labor of Love: Showcasing Vermont’s Women”
Labor of Love, an exhibit of photos and interview excerpts that honors 29 women who are passionate about their work, was created as part of VWW’s 25th anniversary festivities. Hailing from Newport to Vernon, the women are young and young-at-heart, well-known and not. They are farmers, doctors, tattoo artists, college presidents, electricians, and general store clerks.

In collaboration with Vermont Works for Women. This multi-site exhibition will be showcased in the Living/Learning Fireplace Lounge, Women’s Center, and the Allen House Multicultural Art Gallery

April 1 – 19, 2013
“Helping College Students Move Through Loss” by Julienne Oberts
Among the list of potentially major life-changing events, the loss of a loved one is often one of the most significant. Considering the sheer quantity of students who experience grief of college campuses, the artist was curious to explore and learn more about why this was the case. As someone who had also experienced the loss of a loved one, this collection of work is a visual dialogue with herself as she works towards finding ways to grow through grieving.

April 22 – May 3, 2013
“UVM’s Real Beauty Campaign” - A Photographic Exhibit by Michelle Leung
This photographic exhibition conceptualized by graduating senior, Michelle Leung is aimed at raising awareness about body image, self-acceptance, and self-love.
