I. Used by teachers: (be able to understand)

Please read out the book/dictionary.
Please open the book/dictionary.

Please turn to page ____.

Please look at /do Exercise ____.

Louder, please!

Please practice with your classmate a little bit.

How is this character read/written?

I don't know.

This is my homework.

What is ____ in Chinese?

What is the meaning of ____?

I have forgotten.

I am sick.

It doesn't matter.

No problem.

II. Used by students (be able to understand and use)

I have ____ question(s).

Please speak slowly.

Please say it again.

I can't see/hear clearly.

I see/listen but not yet be able to understand.

I don't know.

This is my homework.

What is ____ in Chinese?

What is the meaning of ____?

III. Common everyday expressions: (try to use in daily life with your classmates and teachers)

Terrific!

Excellent!

Excuse me. (or Sorry.)

Really? (or Really!)

I have forgotten.

I am sick.

It doesn't matter.

No problem.
I am a little hungry/thirsty/tired/sleepy.

I am hungry/thirsty/tired/sleepy to death.