

UNIVERSITY OF VERMONT Symposium

A Thousand Ghost Maps: History in and as Health Crisis

An interdisciplinary symposium on the intersection of pathogen, history, and society

Davis Auditorium,
Fletcher-Allen/UVM
Medical School
Monday, April 28
11am-12:30pm
Reception to follow

PANEL

J.R. McNeill PhD, University Professor, Georgetown University;
Guggenheim and MacArthur Genius Fellow

Barry Finette MD PhD, Director, Global Health and Humanitarian Opportunity Program; Fletcher-Allen Pediatrics

Margaret Karagas PhD, Dartmouth College, Norris Cotton
Cancer Center; Section Head, Epidemiology and Biostatistics; Director, Formative Children's Environmental Health and Disease Prevention Research Center

Svea Closser MPH PhD, Sociology and Anthropology,
Middlebury College

Sandra Hyde MPH PhD, Anthropology, McGill University

John Aberth PhD, Author of Plagues in World History, The Black Death, and an Environmental History of the Middle Ages

Hosted in association with the President's Burack Distinguished Lectureship by J.R. McNeill, How Hungry Mosquitoes Liberated the Americas, 1776-1898

For more information contact Dr. Jonah Steinberg, Anthropology, jonah.steinberg@uvm.edu, or Mary Lou Shea 802.656.1096.