A career change is possible at any age, and with the Continuing and Distance Education programs available through UVM, your fullest potential is no further than a click away. Check out these upcoming offerings designed to help you reach higher:

- Experience cooking, tasting, and eating as a way to learn about inquiry with UVM’s John Dewey Kitchen Institute. Drawing from John Dewey’s philosophy of education and epistemology this three-day summer course includes three meals and a wine and beer tasting. Click here.

- Sow the seeds of resistance, become a more informed food systems advocate, and grow your knowledge of organic farming with UVM’s six-month, hands-on Farmer Training Program, now accepting applications for our 2018 growing season! Click here.

- Now more than ever, leaders are needed to make a difference and address the challenges of worldwide food systems sustainability. UVM is your doorway to driving change within communities. Learn how you can help with our Breakthrough Leaders for Sustainable Food Systems program. Click here.

- Ready to move your brewery out of the garage and begin your career in the craft beer industry? Gain the essential skills and knowledge you need from industry experts to position yourself for success with UVM’s Business of Craft Beer Certificate program. Click here.

- Learn innovative digital marketing strategies from industry experts and gain the skills to connect with prospects and consumers in this rapidly evolving field with UVM’s Digital Marketing Certificates, including programs in Digital and Social Selling, Strategy and Planning, Search Marketing, Social Media Marketing, and our top-ranked Digital Marketing Fundamentals Certificate. Click here.

- Due to popular demand, we’ve added another spring session of our exceptional Project Management Professional Certificate, commencing April 27th. Project management is one of the most important skills needed in today’s fast-paced business environment. Acquire the tools and techniques to improve your approaches and outcomes with this series of five, one-day seminars. Click here.

- Pre-College at UVM provides a tremendous opportunity for high school students to take online or on-campus courses for credit year-round. Registration is open for summer classes, including our four-week Summer Academy programs in Health and Medicine, Biomedical Science and Human Disease, Using Drones to Map, Monitor and Measure Our Changing Landscape, and Shakespeare in Practice. Click here.

- Summer University is open for registration! Whether you’re a high school, undergraduate, or graduate student, or a working or retired professional—we have a course for you. Get ahead in your requirements, stay engaged with your studies throughout the summer, or take a class for fun! Registration opens March 2nd. Click here.

- Earn your Professional Certificate in Campus Sustainability Leadership with UVM’s one-week summer program. Distinguish yourself in the field by learning how to develop transformiative, financially sustainable innovations at your institution, and help your campus become a model in sustainability. Click here.