PAGANISM 101: Learning the Basics & How They Relate to Life at UVM
Tues, Feb 13 @ 10 am - noon
Interfaith Center (400 South Prospect)
-- Please note: Open to current UVM staff and faculty only. Registration required -- Learn about the varieties of belief, practice and communities of the Pagan tradition and explore how the campus environment can impact students, staff, and faculty who identify with this tradition. Presented by healer, teacher and author, Kirk White, who is past president of Covenant of the Goddess (North America's oldest and largest association of witches and Wiccans), founder of both Cherry Hill Seminary (a nation-wide Pagan seminary) and Standing Stone Academy: a Pagan healer training program. White is a popular author and speaker at Pagan and Freemasonic events around the U.S.

Register through PeopleSoft Human Resources at www.uvm.edu/~erp/portal, Course Code ICP005. Sponsored by the Interfaith Center and Professional Development & Training as part of an ongoing 101 series helping to equip and empower the UVM community to engage more comfortably and competently with spirituality and religion in our life and work on campus. For questions or cancellations, please contact develop@uvm.edu.

HINDUISM 101: Learning the Basics & How They Relate to Life at UVM
Mon, Mar 5 @ 1-3 pm
Interfaith Center (400 South Prospect)
-- Please note: Open to current UVM staff and faculty only. Registration required -- Learn about the basic concepts, practices, and global/regional differences of Hinduism from Dr. Sadia Mahmood, a Fulbright Scholar from Pakistan specializing in World Religions. Explore and discuss how the campus environment can impact students, staff, and faculty who identify with this tradition.

Register through PeopleSoft Human Resources at www.uvm.edu/~erp/portal, Course Code ICP006. Sponsored by the Interfaith Center and Professional Development & Training as part of an ongoing 101 series helping to equip and empower the UVM community to engage more comfortably and competently with spirituality and religion in our life and work on campus. For questions or cancellations, please contact develop@uvm.edu.

ENGAGING THE ELEPHANT: Addressing Religion & Other Worldviews in the Workplace
A 90-minute session to be held during the EDU@UVM event, March 13-15
Date/Time/Location TBA
Conversations regarding religion and other worldviews in the workplace can be challenging. Would you like to gain knowledge, attitudes, and practices that might help you: increase your comfortability and competency in encountering and engaging diverse worldviews, learn more about yourself, and create space for yourself and other colleagues to feel more “whole” in their work life? Join UVM Interfaith Coordinator, Rev. Laura C. Engelken, as she leads this informative and interactive workshop.