1. Looking for the Changes

Take a walk through time

The hill in front of you was once nothing like what you are seeing now. Much of the area that is now forest was once fields used for crops or as pastures for the livestock. What are the reasons for these changes? How has it happened? Humans caused some changes but many are changes nature caused to happen. We invite you to take a walk through time.