COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course examines U.S. national elections and political parties. Topics to be discussed (among others) include electoral realignments throughout history, voting for President and Congress, party competition, voter turnout, incumbency advantage, and the electoral foundations of divided party control of government.

The course has several objectives—

1) To introduce students to important literature in the field, developing familiarity with basic theories of party organization, election mechanics, and voting behavior;

2) To apply these concepts to recent electoral strategies in both presidential and congressional campaigns;

3) To assess the current state of American electoral politics by probing deeper questions surrounding electoral systems and policy response, democratic accountability, and collective responsibility for political outcomes.

REQUIRED READING

The following books are required and may be purchased at the college bookstore:

  ISBN: 9780495899167

All additional reading assignments are available online. Hyperlinks are provided on our class web page under the “Calendar” heading at:

http://www.uvm.edu/~dguber/POLS125/Fall_2014/

To view each article, direct your web browser to the URL above, use the menu to select “Calendar,” then click the title any article. A new window will open, from which you can either print or read online.

CLASS REQUIREMENTS

Our emphasis throughout the semester will be on critical thinking and the development of strong, analytical writing skills. Graded assignments are designed to evaluate your growth in these areas. Assignments are also designed to give you many opportunities, using different skills, to build a strong grade in this course.

1) A large part of your final grade (30%) will be determined by a take-home paper due at the end of term. This work must be submitted no later than Friday, December 5 at 10:30 a.m.

2) Two essay-based exams will be administered in class, each worth 30% of your final grade. The dates for these are Tuesday, September 30 and Thursday, November 13.

3) Finally, your active participation and attendance is essential to the effectiveness of this class. It will account for the remaining 10% of your grade.

The following rules regarding assigned work are important. Please read this syllabus carefully before deciding to enroll in class. All students are expected to read, understand, and abide by these policies:

In fairness to others, students are not permitted to do “extra credit,” either to compensate for a poor grade or a missed class. Since a total of four grades cumulate to determine your final grade (and no one assignment dominates), there are plenty of opportunities to improve your standing.

If a student misses an exam for reasons that are both serious and outside of their control, they may make up that work, but only on a set day and time at the end of the semester. During the Fall 2014 term, make-up work is scheduled for Tuesday, December 2 from 2:30-3:45 p.m.

Due dates on final papers are set by the Registrar’s Office at the beginning of the term and cannot be rescheduled, except under the conditions described in the course catalog. Written documentation of need must be provided.
GRADING STANDARDS

The grades I assign are based on the following criteria:

92-100  A  Excellent (A range): Grades in the "A" range are reserved for work that is superior in quality. "A" papers are lively, interesting, and intellectually sophisticated. The writer develops a clear and creative thesis, and supports their argument with solid and persuasive evidence. The paper itself is polished and beautifully written, free of grammatical and typographical errors. Above all, "A" papers reflect originality. The writer's own voice and logic are present on the page.

90-91   A-

88-89   B+    Good (B range): Grades in the "B" range reflect work that is good to very good in quality. The paper completes all of the requirements of the assignment at hand. It may have minor errors and flaws, but the foundation of the work is solid, clear, and reasonably well-organized. "B" papers address topics in a thoughtful way, but offer less insight and originality than "A" papers.

82-87   B

80-81   B-

78-79   C+    Fair (C range): A "C" paper represents work that is satisfactory. The writer offers a thesis, but it is usually too broad, or too vague. The paper tends to make assertions without offering specific examples or supporting evidence from class lectures, discussions, and reading assignments. The overall impression of the paper is that of a rough draft. More effort at revision is encouraged and spelling and grammatical errors often require correction.

72-77   C

70-71   C-

68-69   D+    Poor (D range): A "D" paper is an unsatisfactory paper. It is sloppy, incoherent and poorly written, marred by mechanical faults (e.g., errors in grammar, punctuation, and spelling), and/or factual errors. The writer has difficulty developing an idea, and holding a paragraph together. The thesis of the paper—that is, what the paper is arguing—is usually absent or incomplete.

62-67   D

60-61   D-

≤ 59    F     Failing (F): A failing grade is given for work that is exceedingly poor, cannot be understood, or has little relevance to the course.

0      No Credit (0): A grade of "zero" is given for any work that is not completed.

Work that is produced by cheating, collaboration, plagiarism or any other violation of academic honesty is positively unacceptable and will be subject to the disciplinary actions described in the UVM student handbook.

CLASS ATTENDANCE

Class attendance accounts for 10% of your final grade in this class. It is recorded by your signature on the attendance sheets passed around in class each day. All students receive two "free" absences to use as they see fit (without need for excuse), but these absences are intended for illness and emergencies and should be saved for such. Once they are gone, they are gone. Note that 10 points will be deducted from your attendance grade for each class you miss in addition. In other words, if you miss class frequently it is possible for your score to fall into negative numbers.

You need also to be aware of the following:

- You are solely responsible for making sure you sign the attendance sheet before leaving class. If you do not, your name cannot be added at a later point.

- Any student involved in the forgery of signatures—either on the “giving” or “receiving” end—will receive an automatic zero for that entire portion of their grade, and will in addition be subject to the university’s policy on academic honesty.

- Beyond the two “free” absences described above, I do not grant excused absences unless the circumstances are exceptional, or you travel out of town as a member of a UVM club or sports team. If you are a member of a sports team, please be sure to forward a copy of your schedule to me in writing as soon as it becomes available, so that attendance sheets can be marked accordingly on those days when your team travels out of town.

In addition to daily attendance, you are also encouraged to participate actively in class discussions. Thoughtful and frequent participation in class is typically rewarded as a “tie-breaker,” in the event that your final score is close to the next higher grade.

RELIGIOUS HOLIDAYS

Students have the right to practice the religion of their choice. Please submit your documented religious holiday schedule for the semester to me by the end of the second full week of classes. Students who miss work for the purpose of religious observance will be permitted either a make-up exam or a penalty-free extension.

ACCOMMODATIONS FOR STUDENTS WITH DISABILITIES

In keeping with University policy, any student with a documented disability interested in utilizing accommodations should contact ACCESS, the office of Disability Services on campus. ACCESS works with students and faculty in an interactive process to explore reasonable and appropriate accommodations via an accommodation letter to faculty with recommended accommodations as early as possible each semester.

Location: A170 Living/Learning Center
Telephone: (802) 656-7753
E-mail: access@uvm.edu
Website: http://www.uvm.edu/access

CLASSROOM PROTOCOL

In coordination with the Department of Political Science, I have adopted the following protocol for classroom behavior:
1. Students are expected to attend and be prepared for all regularly scheduled classes.

2. Students are expected to arrive on time and stay in class until the class period ends. If a student knows in advance that he or she will need to leave early, he or she must notify the instructor before the class period begins.

3. Students are expected to treat faculty and fellow students with respect. For example, students must not disrupt class by leaving and reentering during class, must not distract class by making noise, and must be attentive to comments being made by the instructors and by peers.

4. Students must turn off and stow all electronic devices (e.g., laptops, iPads, cell phones, etc.) before class begins. Why don’t I allow such devices for taking notes? This post from Buzzfeed says it all: "11 Things You're Actually Doing on Your Laptop During a Lecture."

Students who violate any of these rules may be subject to whatever grade penalty I deem appropriate.

ASKING FOR HELP

Be sure to ask questions whenever you need to. Here is how:

- I am generally available to answer quick questions both before and after class.

- I hold office hours on a first-come, first-serve basis every Tuesday and Thursday from 11:30-12:30 and again from 2:30-3:30 p.m. If those hours are not compatible with your schedule, please do not hesitate to ask for an appointment. My office is located on the 5th floor of Old Mill, room 519.

- While you can reach me by telephone at (802) 656-4062, e-mail is generally faster. I check e-mail on a regular basis, but please understand that I may not be able to respond immediately to messages sent in the evening or on weekends. My e-mail address is: Deborah.Guber@uvm.edu
CLASS CALENDAR

Note: All reading assignments marked [online] can be found on the POLS 125 website under the heading "Calendar."

I. INTRODUCTORY REMARKS

Tuesday, August 26: Fixing Democracy

II. POLITICAL PARTIES IN THEORY AND PRACTICE

Thursday, August 28: The Responsible Party Model

Tuesday, September 2: The American Two-Party System

Brian F. Schaffner, Politics, Parties and Elections in America (2011): Chapters 3-5.

Thursday, September 4: Electoral Realignments and Party Systems

Tuesday, September 9: Understanding Ideology

Thursday, September 11: Party Polarization

Tuesday, September 16: Third Party Insurgents

III. THE CITIZEN AS VOTER

Thursday, September 18: The Vanishing (or Resurgent) Voter?

Tuesday, September 23: Motorize or Mobilize?

Thursday, September 25: The Politics of Voter Turnout: Fraud and Suppression

🔑 EXAM #1: Tuesday, September 30

Thursday, October 2: How We Vote, Part 1: Identity Politics

Ann Friedman, “All Politics is Identity Politics,” The American Prospect (July 29, 2010) [online].

Tuesday, October 7: How We Vote, Part II: The Culture War

Thursday, October 9: How We Vote, Part III: Reason and Emotion

IV. CANDIDATES AND CAMPAIGNS

Tuesday, October 14: The Incumbency Factor in Congressional Elections

Thursday, October 16: Drawing District Lines

Tuesday, October 21: The Electoral College

Thursday, October 23: The Presidential Nomination Process

Tuesday, October 28: A History of Presidential Campaigns

Thursday, October 30: From Broadsides to Broadcasts: The Changing Role of the Media

Mary E. Stuckey, “Here We Go Again: Presidential Elections and the National Media,” Perspectives on Political Science (Spring 2000): 99 [online].
Evgenia Pertez, “Going After Gore,” Vanity Fair (October 2007) [online].

Tuesday, November 4: Pundits vs. Pollsters: The Art and Science of Forecasting Elections

Sam Wang, “Will the 2014 Election be a Wave or a Ripple?” The New Yorker (August 19, 2014) [online].

Thursday, November 6: Show Me the Money: The Politics of Campaign Finance

Tuesday, November 11: When Pigs Fly: In Search of Real Campaign Finance Reform

✍ EXAM #2: Thursday, November 13

V. PARTIES IN GOVERNMENT

Tuesday, November 18: Partisanship and Polarization

Thursday, November 20: Fixing Elections

✍ THANKSGIVING RECESS: November 24-28

Tuesday, December 2: Concluding Thoughts

✍ PAPER DUE: No later than Friday, December 5 at 10:30 a.m.