

Questions presented in the student survey about Connectivity

Which best describes your internet access for the coming weeks?

- Reliable high-speed internet that's fast enough to stream videos
- Reliable internet that lets me stream audio (like podcasts), but not videos
- Reliable internet that lets me read written materials, and post written comments, but I can't reliably stream audio or videos
- Erratically available internet (in terms of time it is available to me, or quality of the speed)
- Rarely available internet
- I have no access to the internet

What kind of device(s) do you expect to use to connect with our course? Select all that apply.

- Computer (the best option, if available)
- Tablet or iPad
- Smartphone
- Telephone without internet access
- Other: (please tell me more in the open-ended questions below)

Are there important course materials that you can't access now?

- Yes, because the materials are online and I can't access them
- Yes, because the materials are not with me now
- No, I've got access to everything I need
- I'm not sure

What time(s) of day do you expect to be available for engaging with course content like video and audio?

- Our normal class time
- Weekday morning times
- Weekday afternoons
- Weekday evenings
- Weekends
- I'm not sure

Short answer: We don't know how long our remote instruction period will last. You may have concerns about basic needs (food, money, housing, physical or mental health care) during this period, and if you like, we can submit a UVM Care Form. It will help you get connected with resources for support. This is an anonymous survey, so if you would like the Care Form to be submitted on your behalf, please enter your name below. Otherwise, you can skip this question.

Short answer: Do you have any accessibility needs regarding online teaching? For example, do you need materials available in a different format, or transcriptions, or any other specific approach? Student Accessibility Services can assist if you need to communicate with professors about accommodations; your needs may be different now that all your courses have moved online.

Short answer: Do you have any concerns about your access to technology during this period of remote instruction? If so, please tell me more. This is an anonymous survey, so if you would like to me to follow up with you, please add your name to your answer.

Short answer: Do you have any additional questions or concerns about moving to online classes that you'd like to share with me? Please tell me here. This is an anonymous survey, so if you would like, include your name with your answer.
