

Agency Remuneration

The Department of Social Work provides an honorarium, where allowable, to community agencies and organizations that host a social work student placement, paid as a lump sum to the agency or organization hosting the student(s). The amount is set by the College of Education and Social Services on a per student basis and communicated to the Dept. of Social Work; currently this amount is $500. The payment is issued after the completion of the academic year and is contingent upon an updated Affiliation Agreement between the College of Education and Social Services and the host agency (renewed in 3-year cycles) as well as a valid W-9 form for the organization on file.

The University does not pay these funds to individuals, but in some cases, Field Instructors may make individual arrangements with their agency. The Department of Social Work is not a participant in these negotiations.
