Hate: Why We Should Resist It with Free Speech, Not Censorship

NADINE STROSSEN

*Former ACLU President,
New York Law School Professor,
and Senior Fellow at FIRE*

Join us for a talk by Nadine Strossen, past president of the American Civil Liberties Union, a professor of law emerita at New York Law School, and a senior fellow at the Foundation for Individual Rights and Expression (FIRE).

A leading scholar of hate speech and the first amendment, Strossen's convictions are concisely encapsulated in the title of her talk, taken from her book of the same name: "HATE: Why We Should Resist it with Free Speech, Not Censorship."

THE UVM PRESIDENTIAL LECTURE SERIES

Each year, the UVM Major Lecture Series addresses a topic of interest in the public square. The theme for 2024-25 is the clamorous question of free speech. Each lecture in the series is made possible by endowments from generous donors and focuses on a particular aspect of the annual theme.

The George D. Aiken Lecture series brings to campus distinguished speakers from the fields of foreign affairs, agriculture, and energy—that is, the fields so important to Senator George D. Aiken's legacy.
