

Channel Activity in Brain Capillaries

1. Schematic depicting electrical activity measured from the surface of an endothelial cell from the mouse brain using patch clamp electrophysiology technique.

C denotes closed, and downward deflections are inward electrical currents due to a single ion channel conformational change.