

Orange Julius contains complex themes, topics, and/or sensory experiences that may be difficult or agitating for some audience members. The content list below contains potential spoilers.

For additional information, please contact the box office at RTTTickets@uvm.edu.

Vivid talk of injury, blood, gore, and illness.

Frank talk of violence and war, most especially Vietnam.

Representation of PTSD, dementia, and related physical decline.

Representation and talk of death, dying, and grief.

Implied early-life gender dysphoria, gender complicated identity questions, and related misgendering.

Presence and use of non-firing theatrical costume gun and weapon replicas.

Soundscapes and lighting effects which suggest or simulate explosions and gunfire.

Profanity, strong language, sexually suggestive references, and offensive identity-based references.