

NEW STUDENT WEEKLY

A weekly message with important to-dos, updates, and more to support your onboarding to UVM

Dear {{(Person-Preferred)}},

Happy fall days, Winter Cats! There's a little chill in the air in Burlington and it's getting us so excited for all the fun of the upcoming season. We can't wait for you to get here and join in!

Be sure you stay on target with your onboarding tasks below so you are ready to dive into life at UVM when you get to campus!

To-Do Items

☒ Get Started on Your Personalized New Student Checklist

Your New Student Checklist can be accessed through your App Status page and will help you keep track of your onboarding tasks. Items such as activating your UVM NetID, submitting your final transcripts, and setting up your CATCard (digital student ID) are critical to complete before your arrival!

☒ Check your UVM email regularly

Once you have your UVM Net ID, you should log in to your UVM email. Be sure to check it regularly as you get ready to arrive. The Orientation team will continue to send emails to both your personal email and your UVM email, but other departments and professors will communicate only with your UVM address. Look for emails from your advisor and more!

☒ Follow @uvmorientation on Instagram

Join us on Instagram to be introduced to our Orientation Leaders, get reminders about upcoming deadlines, and see what fun stuff is happening during Orientation!

What is UVM Bored?

UVM BORED is your go-to guide for finding fun, free, and engaging things to do on and around campus! Whether you're looking for club meetings, concerts, outdoor adventures, free food, or just something to do on a Friday night, UVM BORED has you covered.

It's a student-run events calendar and blog that highlights everything happening at UVM and in the Burlington area. You can check out events by category, see what's trending, and even submit your own events if you're part of a student org or hosting something cool.

Where to find it? Visit uvmbored.com or follow them on Instagram (@uvmbored) for daily updates and event highlights.
