THE UVM PRESIDENTIAL LECTURE SERIES

For the 2025-26 academic year, the University explores the future of higher education. Changing demographics, upended federal and state policy, new technologies, evolving student and family expectations, uncertain job markets, rising mistrust of the academy, lessons from Covid, technological innovations, and disagreement about the very purpose of an education all raise questions about higher education's ends and the means to those ends.

The Burack Lecture Series brings to campus scholars, scientists, artists and writers who are acknowledged as preeminent in their discipline. In addition to enriching the academic environment, the Burack President's Distinguished Lecture Series also helps to showcase the exceptional caliber of UVM faculty, students and programs.
