More Tips for Success

- Please reference the rubric for your exhibit category to ensure that your video is highlighting all the areas needed to evaluate your exhibit. All exhibit and rubric information can be found at this link: <https://www.uvm.edu/extension/youth/4-h-public-speaking-and-communications>.
- It is understood that parents and guardians may help in the making of the video of an exhibit. For example, the 4-H'er may need someone to hold the device that they are using to record the video in the absence of a tripod.
- For exhibits like Action Exhibits, Team Demonstrations, and Stage Presentations, youth may use technology and creativity to create videos that capture these group exhibits. Videos may be edited so that several videos are "stitched" together when several 4-H'ers are working together on an exhibit but physically cannot be together for the video shoot.
- Fashion Review - The video should show the 4-H'er walking in their outfit and include close ups of the garments off the model showing the sewing construction details that are judged. The video may include verbal explanation of details or methods used.
- Smart Shopper only requires the video to show the 4-H'er walking with their outfit. Please do verbally explain why the outfit was chosen and what the 4-H'er's goal was in purchasing and assembling the outfit.
- For non-clothing sewing exhibits please use your video to show your overall project and allow the observer to see close up construction details.
- If using a smart phone, turn the phone so it is horizontal not held vertically.

- When possible, try not to use the digital zoom.
- Practice your presentation at least once before creating a final submission. However, please note that each participant may only submit one video per category to be judged.
- Unlike in person, there will not be an audience and therefore exhibits that typically have a question-and-answer portion will not include Q & A.
