

Ball State University

Sustainability Stories

Muncie, IN

Partnership

Students complete work during capstone class and focus on sustainability issues in Indiana. Work then appears in USA Today-affiliated outlets.

Lead faculty

Adam Kuban, ajkuban@bsu.edu

Website

Sustainability Stories

Collaborators

Lafayette Journal and Courier, jconline.com;
Muncie Star Press, thestarpress.com; Richmond
Palladium-Item, pal-item.com; also Indiana
University–Purdue University Indianapolis and Indiana University's Environmental Resilience
Institute

Impacts

Student stories typically have at least 2,000 page views

Students

20,000 at Ball State University

Student work

Students work first with instructor Adam Kuban, then send stories to USA Today regional editor Deanna Watson for review and publication.

Faculty/staff

Students' reporting is completed through a capstone course taught by professor Adam Kuban