

Comprehensive Evaluation of Students with Complex Communication and Learning Profiles

January 27 & February 10

Plus 4 optional virtual coaching sessions

This FREE virtual workshop series will take educators, SLPs, PTs, OTs, and psychologists beyond the necessary question of special education eligibility.

Topics will include:

- how to develop effective evaluation questions
- the contracted evaluator's role and responsibilities
- basic properties and characteristics of tests
- kinds and meaning of test scores
- review of the different types of assessment tools
- areas that tests measure
- effective ways to share assessment results with others

We'll discuss unique approaches to evaluating learners over the course of the series. And participants will be able to offer case studies and problem-solve during coaching sessions.

If you cannot attend the training sessions, sign up to receive the recordings, and access free coaching.

with:
Richard Reid, PhD
School Psychologist

Focusing on comprehensive evaluation as a tool
to:

- measure growth since the last evaluation
- inform program development and curricular decisions
- inform instructional strategies
- measure ongoing growth to show the success of instruction

QUESTIONS:
iteam@uvm.edu

REGISTRATION:
go.uvm.edu/i-team-events

THE UNIVERSITY OF VERMONT CENTER ON DISABILITY & COMMUNITY INCLUSION