

“Communication & Collaboration with Families and Providers in a Changing World” hosted by Rachel Wright, author, parent, & nurse

An upcoming free, virtual workshop series for EI and Early Childhood providers

An inspiring, interactive and unique training sharing lived experience, research and best practice. Focused on equipping providers to effectively communicate and work in collaboration with families of children who have complex needs. Every provider will leave better informed with practical ways to improve future practice in a changing world.

COMMUNICATION & COLLABORATION WITH FAMILIES AND PROVIDERS IN A CHANGING WORLD

January 13 & 27, 2022
noon-2pm EST

CREATING A SHARED DREAM

(session for providers & families)
February 10, 2022
noon-1pm EST

REGISTER ONLINE

THE UNIVERSITY OF VERMONT
CENTER ON DISABILITY & COMMUNITY INCLUSION

Rachel Wright (BSc) is founder of Born at the Right Time, author of The Skies I'm Under, award winning blogger, speaker, trainer, qualified nurse and unqualified mum of three sons; one who has severe disabilities and life-limiting epilepsy.

An expert through lived experience, Rachel works towards Bridging the Gap between families of children with complex conditions and the practitioners who support them. Occasionally she ties on her trainers and runs in a vague attempt to counteract her love for Salt 'n Vinegar crisps, hummus and all things carbohydrate.

“Certificate of Attendance” available after completion of 3rd session (5 hours)