How to be a Senator in GSS

All graduate programs qualify for representation in the Graduate Student Senate. Senators are elected in the Spring semester for the following academic year (up to 3 per program). Vacancies that occur throughout the year can be approved by the Senate as needed. The current list of Senators can be found on our website. If your program has an opening or is not represented, come to any Senate meeting or contact GSS at gss@uvm.edu to learn more about being a representative for your program!

Come spend time with us!

In GSS, we want to foster a sense of community among graduate students. We know you're working hard each day and fulfilling your responsibilities, which means you're also in need of a break! We frequently hold social events throughout the year, ranging from hiking through Ausable Chasm, cookouts, movie nights, coffee breaks, and more! Keep an eye out for the weekly GSS newsletter in your email inbox, as this tells you when these are taking place. You can also follow us on social media using the keywords below to stay informed on GSS events. We hope to see you there!

The Student Engagement Committee is launching a new podcast (in collaboration with WRUV) for us to connect with graduate students at UVM and get to know you better. We're sitting down with our fellow Catamounts to understand the human element of being a graduate student. If you'd like an opportunity to share your story, your work, and your inspiration, contact us at gss@uvm.edu and we'll work you into the schedule. We look forward to hearing from you!

We're here for you.

If you have any issues, questions, or concerns, we want to hear from you. GSS is committed to helping graduate students solve problems that they encounter throughout their time at UVM. Whether you have any problems arise in your program, between you and your advisor, or anything else, GSS can help find a solution and get things back on track. International Students

New international graduate students may be asked for a credit check or guarantee for the initial rental application. The Office of International Education (OIE) has suggested that the offer letter from the graduate college be sufficient in showing that the incoming international graduate student can afford the housing. However, contact the OIE if any complications arise during the rental application.

Important Tips and Reminders

- Be sure to register for the Graduate Student Mailing List by sending an email to Listserv@list.uvm.edu. You can send and receive emails from your fellow graduate students who may be looking for roommates and sublease opportunities. There are plenty of opportunities waiting for you. Why wait? Sign up here: <https://www.uvm.edu/graduate/gradnet>
- The City of Burlington prohibits more than four unrelated individuals living in a single residence. See the "Four-Unrelated" Ordinance for additional details.

Common Questions

Q: What can I expect to pay for rent and utilities?

Graduate students pay anywhere between ~$500 with roommate(s) up to ~$1500 for rental fees, and 70% of graduate students who responded to a recent survey said they paid ~$750 for rent. For utilities, 40% of graduate students who responded also reported paying ~$50-100, 23% paid ~$100-150, and 37% paid more than ~$150. Some rentals include utilities, some do not. Be sure to ask how trash, internet, electricity, gas, and water are covered when looking for housing so you can accurately estimate monthly costs.

The general recommendation according to The United States Department of Housing is to spend no more than 30% of your gross monthly income (before taxes) on rent.

Q: Where can I find off-campus housing besides Burlington?

The following nearby municipalities are ideal if you do not mind being more than a mile or more from campus. Popular nearby municipalities include: Essex, Essex Junction, South Burlington, and Winooski. The following municipalities are also no more than a thirty-minute drive: Charlotte, Colchester, Hinesburg, Huntington, Jericho, Milton, Shelburne, and Williston.

Q: What are some listings for off-campus housing?

The following sites feature listings for off-campus housing. Please note that we do not endorse any of these listings. If you feel that any information is incorrect, please email the graduate student senate: gss@uvm.edu.

- <https://offcampushousing.uvm.edu/>
 - This page is regularly updated and has a clean layout, complete with a search bar at the top of the page where a quick search based on price and number of beds/baths can be performed. Create an account with your UVM NetID to access the site. The site also features roommate searches and message boards.
- <https://www.spinnerplace.com/>
 - For international students, credit history requirement is waived. Six-month leases are available. Parking is not included in the rental fee.

Q: Are there any on-campus housing options?

Technically, there are no housing options available on campus. However, the apartments at Redstone are open to housing graduate students if you apply. This is the closest option to living on-campus because UVM Campus Area Transportation System (CATS) provides a bus route to and from the Redstone Lofts and Apartments.

<http://www.redstonecampusapartments.com/>

Q: What should I do if I feel a Landlord unfairly discriminates against me?

Landlords cannot refuse to show, sell, rent, sublease, or make housing unavailable based on a renter's race, color, national origin, sex, disability, religion, familial status, marital status, gender identity, sexual orientation, or receipt of public assistance. Landlords also cannot charge some individuals higher rent or falsely state that housing is not available for discriminatory reasons. If you believe you have been a victim of discrimination, contact one of these agencies:

- Vermont Human Rights Commission: <https://hrc.vermont.gov/>
- City of Burlington City Attorney's Office: <https://www.burlingtonvt.gov/Attorney>
- CVOEO Fair Housing Department: <https://www.cvoeo.org/>
- Vermont Legal Aid: <https://vtlawhelp.org/>

Q: I am completely new to Vermont. How can I learn more about what it is like to live there?

Try looking at some local news sites like <https://www.sevendaysvt.com/>, and the annual copy of "Field Guide to Burlington". Additionally, asking your advisor or program coordinator to put you in touch with people in your program who already live in the area can be a great way to get the lay of the land before moving!

Q: Are there any local support programs for housing?

We encourage you to visit the appropriate housing authority. If you are attempting to apply to any low-income programs, please note that your income as a graduate student teaching or research assistant may disqualify you as an applicant.

Some Housing Authority Websites include:

- Burlington Housing Authority (BHA)
 - BHA promotes access to affordable housing for low- income members of the community, and it prioritizes rental subsidies, affordable housing, and enables members of the community to obtain and retain safe, affordable, permanent housing.

Nordic, cross-country, and backcountry skiing

- There are many, many places to go cross-country skiing in Vermont, so we're not even going to try to list them all in any amount of detail. A great resource for Nordic enthusiasts is XCOUNTRY Ski Vermont. Here you will find conditions and contact information for many cross-country ski locations, divided up by regions in Vermont. And there is the Intervale and many golf courses that you can ski at for free! Several of these venues also have good backcountry skiing.

Snowshoeing

- If you aren't a fan of sliding down a mountain and enjoy hiking when it's warm, then snowshoeing might be your thing. Try snowshoeing! Like skis and snowboards, snowshoes need to be properly fitted. Check out this guide for first timer's for more information. Try the trails at the Intervale, Indian Brook Reservoir in Essex, or any of the many trail-heavy parks around the Burlington area.

Ice Skating

- Check out the Gordon H. Paquette Ice Arena (also known as Leddy Arena). You can rent skates for a nominal fee. If you have your own skates, you can try out the many ponds in the area and - of course - Lake Champlain. Just be sure that the ice is thick enough to skate!

Equipment

- When looking for equipment, the first place to start is the UVM Outing Club – they loan out a variety of outdoor equipment, so it’s a great resource to try something out! Then, try a few of the local outdoor shops.

On-Campus Dining

Food Trucks

- Along the street adjacent to the UVM Green, local food vendors park their trucks during lunchtime. Options cater to all tastes from sandwiches to Chinese and falafels to salads you are bound to find something to satisfy the tastes buds. Vendor hours vary but they are usually around until about 5pm during the school year.

UVM Dining Services

- The Davis Center: UVM Dining Services has a number of on-campus dining facilities. In addition to cafeteria-style dining options, the Davis Center facilities offer many choices that include sandwiches, salads and - most importantly - coffee! Below is a list of graduate student favorites.
 - Henderson’s Cafe: This coffee house is named after George Washington Henderson (UVM class of 1877), the first African-American man to be admitted into the Phi Beta Kappa honor society. Located on the 3rd floor of the Davis Center and attached to the Bookstore, this full-service coffee shop is a great place to relax or chat with friends.
 - Brennan’s Pub and Bistro: Brennan's is recognized for its locally-sourced and sustainable foods and student-driven events. Vermont products are featured in salads, burgers, sandwiches, and even a traditional Vermont breakfast. For those of age, Brennan's offers local microbrews on tap as well as wine selections. Popular evening programs like pub quiz, comedy night, and live music keep things busy late night.
 - The Marketplace: The marketplace has ample seating as well as access to the outdoor terrace and green roof. This space hosts a Sushi Station staffed by the locally-owned Sakura restaurant, authentic Indian food, fresh breads baked on-site, and an organic corner portion of the marketplace offers Mediterranean cuisine.
 - New World Tortilla: Craving a burrito or quesadilla? New World Tortilla has you covered. This Burlington favorite offers tacos, burritos, and wraps of all sorts to satisfy your cravings. This is a very popular spot for lunch, so you may have to wait - but it’s worth it!

- UVM Dairy Bar: The UVM Dairy Bar serves up delicious helpings of ice cream, shakes, and smoothies throughout the school year. Fabulous ice cream flavors range from from Proctor Maple Cream (made with maple syrup from UVM’s own Proctor Maple Research Center) to Sweet CREAM to Catamount Tracks (think Moose Tracks...but with a UVM twist) all made with milk from UVM's CREAM program.
- Living/Learning Center: In addition to Davis center, UVM also has a number of dining services available for graduate students in Living/Learning center. Below are some of the favorites.
 - University Marché: The University marché has different platforms that offer multiple varieties like sushi, sandwiches, picante, wonton, etc. It offers ample sitting space and has access to seating outside in the courtyard of LLC.
 - The Skinny Pancakes: Want all-day breakfast? The skinny pancakes maybe just the place you are looking for. From crepes to breakfast burritos, the skinny pancakes offers a wide range of options throughout the day.

UVM Medical Center

- The University of Vermont Medical Center provides more than just great healthcare, with several options that aren’t typical “hospital” food. For details about hours of operation and menus for the week, check out their website.
 - Harvest Café: Located on the ground floor of the hospital (McClure Lobby), Harvest Cafe is your go-to option for fresh salads, burgers, soups, stews, breakfast options, and various lunch and dinner entrees. Open from 5:00 am to 3:00 am everyday, their menu changes everyday of the week.
 - Main Street Cafe: Focusing on breakfast and lunch, Main Street Cafe provides soups, pizza, paninis, and even quesadillas throughout the week. Like Harvest Cafe, their menu options vary every day.
 - Cafe Express: Offering a variety of coffee and espresso options, as well as grab and go sandwiches and snacks, Cafe Express is a great place to go if (when) you’re feeling that 2:30 pm slump.
 - The Garden Atrium: The Garden Atrium serves breakfast and lunch options that feature in-season produce and meats and also has excellent desserts and snacks. Organized as a “sit down” style restaurant, this is a great spot for a working lunch or meeting.

Transportation and Parking Information and Resources

Cycling

Transportation

- Cycling is an excellent means of transportation about the city of Burlington. Despite having difficult, hilly terrain, Burlington has miles of bike lanes, bike paths, and shared roads designated for bike travel. This makes it an excellent means of transport, being cheap, quick, and pollution-free. There is rarely a shortage of bike parking about campus. Not only can one avoid expensive parking fees, but avoiding distant parking lots can often make cycling a faster means of transport than driving. It is also an excellent way to promote an active lifestyle and help keep the environment clean.

UVM Bike Co-op

- Students, staff, and faculty have access to the UVM Bike Education Co-op, which is located in the Booth House at 86 South Williams Street. Volunteers offer free advice and service for bikes in need of repair. It also has an extensive collection of tools that are free to use for the do-it-yourselfers! The Bike Co-op rents out bikes for students to use for a semester or academic year for $25 per semester (2021-2022 price). You can also rent for a shorter period of time for $5 per day. It also sells new and used parts at wholesale prices. The Bike Co-op is here to promote a clean and healthy lifestyle and prove that there are better alternatives to driving a car.
