

HONORS COLLEGE THESIS PROPOSAL

The success of an honors thesis (BSAD 299) is related to the amount of advance planning devoted to the thesis. Therefore, it is the student's responsibility to work closely with a faculty member within the Grossman School of Business to develop a thorough plan for undertaking and completing an honors thesis. Naturally, this faculty member should have expertise in the area of investigation and also be willing to supervise the thesis from planning to completion. Remember, in order to make a thesis feasible, you must have completed sufficient course work in the proposed area of study.

To graduate with honors college scholar distinction, you must complete six credits of BSAD 299 thesis work during your senior year. These credits may be taken during one semester or split across two semesters, depending on the nature of your thesis. As a guideline, one credit hour involves approximately 45 hours of work; so your thesis should take around 270 hours to complete.

The deadline for the honors thesis proposal is the first Monday following the May commencement ceremony. Students, who under special circumstances cannot submit their thesis proposal by this deadline, can request an extension (August 1 for the fall semester and December 1 for the spring semester). In order to officially enroll in BSAD 299, you must obtain approval from your faculty thesis advisor as well as the Undergraduate Studies Committee (UGSC). Your proposal must be approved by your faculty thesis advisor before it is submitted for review. If the UGSC does not approve your proposal, then you may revise and resubmit provided such resubmission occurs in sufficient time for the UGSC to perform a second review prior to the start of the semester in which the thesis credits will be earned.

Please submit an electronic copy to gsbcss@uvm.edu. Once approved, you will be notified of the process to enroll in BSAD 299.

NOTE: It is the responsibility of the faculty thesis advisor to ensure that the approved proposal has been satisfactorily completed. Completed thesis work, along with faculty evaluations, must be retained by the faculty member and be available for review if necessary. Also, an electronic copy of the completed thesis should be submitted to gsbcss@uvm.edu.
