

Voluntary Short Term Disability (STD) Insurance

Short Term Disability insurance pays a weekly benefit in the event you cannot work because of a covered illness or injury. An STD benefit replaces a portion of your weekly income, providing funds directly to you to help pay your bills and living expenses. Standard Insurance Company (The Standard) has developed this document to provide you with information about the optional coverage you may select through University of Vermont.

Employee Coverage Effective Date

To become insured, you must satisfy the eligibility requirements listed above, serve an eligibility waiting period, receive medical underwriting approval (if applicable), and be actively at work (able to perform all normal duties of your job) on the day before the scheduled effective date of insurance. If you are not actively at work on the day before the scheduled effective date of insurance, your insurance will not become effective until the day after you complete one full day of active work as an eligible employee.

Please contact your human resources representative for more information regarding the requirements that must be satisfied for your insurance to become effective.

Understanding Your Plan Design

Benefit Waiting Period

If your claim for STD Benefits is approved by The Standard, benefits become payable after you have served continuously the applicable days noted below for your disability and you remain disabled. Benefits are not payable during the benefit waiting period.

Accidental Injury After 30 days

Physical disease, pregnancy or mental disorder After 30 days

Note: If you do not apply for this STD coverage during the first Enrollment Period in which you are eligible, your benefit waiting period for physical disease, pregnancy or mental disorder will be 60 days if you become disabled during the first 12 months after your coverage takes effect.

Definition of Disability

You will be considered disabled if, as a result of physical disease, injury, pregnancy or mental disorder:

- You are unable to perform with reasonable continuity the material duties of your own occupation, and
- You suffer a loss of at least 20 percent in your predisability earnings when working in your own occupation

You are not disabled merely because your right to perform your own occupation is restricted, including a restriction or loss of license.

Deductible Income

Deductible income is income you receive or are eligible to receive while STD benefits are payable. Deductible income includes, but is not limited to:

- Sick pay, annual or personal leave pay, severance pay or other forms of salary continuation, including donated amounts, (but not vacation pay) paid to you by University of Vermont, if it exceeds the amount found in a. b., and c.
 - a. Determine the amount of your STD Benefit as if there were no deductible income, and add your sick pay or other salary continuation to that amount
 - b. Determine 100 percent of your predisability earnings
 - c. If a. is greater than b., the difference is deductible income
- Amounts under an unemployment compensation law
- Amounts because of your disability under any other group insurance
- Disability or retirement benefits under your employer’s retirement plan
- Amounts under any state disability income benefit law or similar law
- Earnings from work activity while you are disabled, plus the earnings you could receive if you worked as much as your disability allows
- Earnings or compensation included in your predisability earnings which you receive or are eligible to receive while STD benefits are payable
- Amounts due from or on behalf of a third party because of your disability, whether by judgment, settlement or other method
- Any amount you receive by compromise, settlement or other method as a result of a claim for any of the above
