

Meet with a Study Abroad Advisor

If you would like to meet with a Study Abroad Advisor, before scheduling an appointment please make sure that you have:

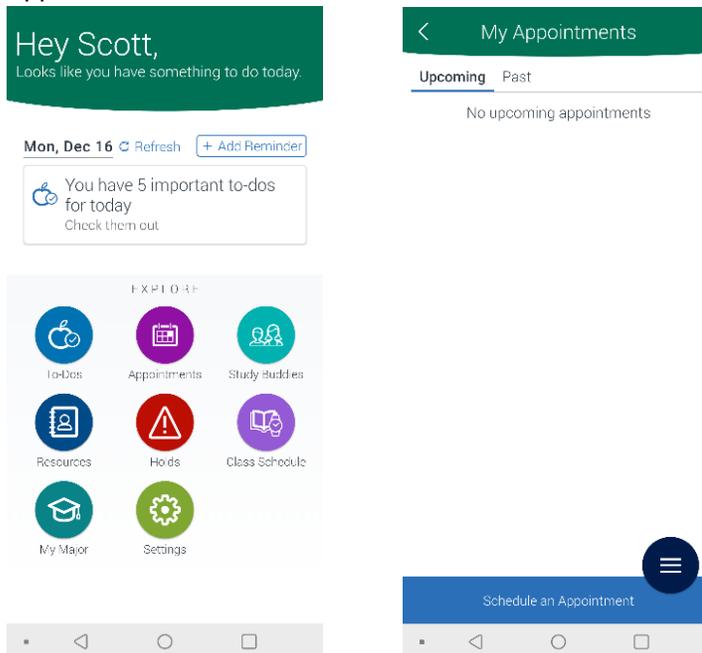

1. Researched study abroad programs using the GoAbroad search function and have identified your desired term abroad and host country.
2. Narrowed down the programs you're considering so that you have 1-3 specific programs to discuss with your Study Abroad Advisor
3. Met with your academic advisor to discuss your academic needs while studying abroad, and completed the Academic Planning form (available on the Study Abroad Forms page). Make sure you know what an academic advisor's role is in the study abroad process, as compared to the role of a study abroad advisor, so that you can know what questions to ask

Students applying to UVM Bilateral Exchange, ISEP Exchange, ISEP Direct, and the NUI Galway Semester program are required to meet with a study abroad advisor. Meeting with an advisor is optional for students applying to External or Direct programs.

Currently UVM Study Abroad Advisors are meeting with students who are planning their study abroad for Spring 2022. Advisors will begin meeting with students considering a Summer/Fall/Academic Year 2022 term on September 16, 2021, following the Spring 2022 application deadlines.

The Office of International Education schedules study abroad advising meetings using the Navigate App. To schedule an appointment, follow the steps below:

1. Don't have the Navigate app? Click here to download.
Note: Mobile and desktop versions are available.
2. Sign in with your UVM NetID and password. Select "Appointments" and "Schedule and Appointment"

- Make the following selections:
 Type of Appointment: Student Support Offices
 Department: Office of International Ed – Study Abroad
 Reason for Appointment: Your desired host country
