Spring 2020 Burack Lecturer Nominations Postponed

Our response to Covid-19 required the cancellation of many academic events planned for the second half of this semester. The Dan and Carole Burack Lecture Series is one of the programs that was affected deeply. Seven Burack lectures that were on the calendar from March 17 through April 22 are now being rescheduled to Fall 2020 or Spring 2021.

The challenges associated with rescheduling so many events are significant. As a result, we are suspending the Spring 2020 Burack nomination process. I know several of you have nominations in progress. Know that you can take this off of your docket for now and finish the nomination preparation when you have more time to do so. If you have already submitted a nomination, it will be considered next Fall (if that timing won't work, and you need to withdraw the nomination, please let us know).

The deadline for Fall 2020 nominations is October 19. We will put out an official call for Fall 2020 nominations early next semester.

Thank you for the many ways you are being flexible and creative this semester. We appreciate your understanding.
