Teaching Assistant Workshop
Adam Noel and Ariana Cano

Wednesday, September 6
12:30 – 2:00
Aiken 301, Rock Room

Whether it’s your first time TA’ing or you’re a seasoned pro, share your questions and learn new strategies from students recognized for their successful and engaging TA styles. Join a TA community you can turn to for support during this challenging and rewarding experience.

Intro to UVM Library for RSENR Grads
Laurie Kutner

Monday, Sept. 11th
9:30-10:30
123 Bailey-Howe Library

It takes skill and finesse to effectively search the literature for relevant work (and those coveted gaps). Learn more about the Library’s services and tools. Library staff have created this workshop specifically for Natural Resources-focused students.

Intro to EndNote Bibliographic Mgmt. Software
Laurie Kutner

Monday, Sept. 11th
10:30-11:30
123 Bailey-Howe Library

Graduate studies require a lot of organizational skills...in particular, having an efficient and reliable way to organize references and source materials is invaluable. Learn about EndNote Bibliographic Management software.

Effective Presentation Skills
James (Jed) Murdoch

Monday, Oct. 2
4:30 – 6:30
Aiken 311

Presenting your research for an audience may seem like a daunting experience. Come learn some techniques for effective preparation and presentation to use for your research and beyond from the winner of the 2017 Kroepsch-Maurice Excellence in Teaching Award.

You Have the Power if You Choose to Take It!
Deb Markowitz

Wednesday, Nov. 15
9:00 – 10:30
Aiken 103

A common thread among Rubenstein School graduate students, undergrads and faculty is an interest in using our knowledge, experience and privilege to make the world a better place. This workshop will be an opportunity to discuss the many ways we can take action.