Teaching Assistant Workshop
Thurs., Sept. 6
11:30 am - 1:00 pm
Aiken 311
Emily Piche & Holden Sparacino

Whether it’s your first time TA’ing or you’re a seasoned pro, share your questions and learn new strategies from students recognized for their successful and engaging TA styles. Join a TA community you can turn to for support during this challenging and rewarding experience.

Intro to UVM Library for RSENKR Grads
Mon., Sept. 10
9:30 am - 10:30 am
123 Bailey-Howe Library
Laurie Kutner

It takes skill and finesse to effectively search the literature for relevant work (and those coveted gaps). Learn more about the Library’s services and tools. Library staff have created this workshop specifically for Natural Resources-focused students.

Intro to EndNote Bibliographic Mgmt. Software
Mon., Sept. 10
10:30 am - 11:30 am
123 Bailey-Howe Library
Laurie Kutner

Graduate studies require a lot of organizational skills…in particular, having an efficient and reliable way to organize references and source materials is invaluable. Learn about EndNote Bibliographic Management software.

Project Management
Wed., Sept. 19
11:45 am - 1:15 pm
Aiken 311
Dan Fredman

Between classes, research, and hitting all your milestones, graduate degrees are a complex set of tasks that need good management skills and tools. Come hear about the latest tools to manage projects, and some lessons learned, from recent PhD graduate and VEIC consultant Dan Fredman.

Effective Presentation Skills
Tues., Oct. 9
4 pm - 6:30 pm
Aiken 311
James (Jed) Murdoch

Presenting your research for an audience may seem like a daunting experience. Come learn some techniques for effective preparation and presentation to use for your research and beyond from the winner of the 2017 Kroepsch-Maurice Excellence in Teaching Award.

Stress Management Workshop
TBD
Stay tuned for details coming soon

Do you find yourself feeling stressed or just want to learn ways to better cope when you feel overwhelmed? Come to this workshop to learn ways to help you manage your stress levels as the semester winds down and holidays approach.

RSVP: Carolyn Goodwin Kueffner (cgoodwin@uvm.edu)
Food provided! Please include any dietary needs on your RSVP so that they may be accommodated.