Internship Title: UVM Unmanned Aircraft System (UAS) Intern

Internship Site: Spatial Analysis Laboratory, Aiken Center, Room 205

Description: The University of Vermont’s Unmanned Aircraft Systems (UAS) team was formed in 2015 as a way to bring high-end drone mapping technology to Vermont. The UAS team is comprised of faculty, staff, and students from the Spatial Analysis Laboratory (SAL) and Transportation Research Center (TRC). The UAS team is nationally recognized for its work, applying drone technology to a broad range of mapping, monitoring, and research activities. The UAS team has been featured in Slate, WCAX, and Vermont Public Radio. Past UAS student team members have gone on to successful careers in the drone technology sector. UVM’s UAS team works with federal, state, and local agencies, along with academic researchers. As a UAS team intern you will participate in vetting requests, obtaining flight permissions, conducting flight operations, data processing, analysis, and report writing. Projects range from stream woody debris monitoring to damn removal mapping to disaster response operations.

Eligibility: Rubenstein students who will have completed their sophomore or junior year by May 2020 are eligible to apply. Students graduating May 2020 are not eligible to apply.

Desired qualifications/skills/coursework:

An interest in using drone technology to solve environmental problems. At least one geospatial technology course, with experience or coursework in remote sensing preferred. Interns must be willing to carry out field work under a variety of conditions and be equally as comfortable working at a computer for long periods of time. Occasional rapid response deployments during non-standard working hours may occur during disaster events.

Supervision:

The UAS team is led by Adam Zylka and falls under the Spatial Analysis Lab, which is overseen by Jarlath O’Neil-Dunne. Adam and Jarlath will jointly serve as the internship supervisor. Over the course of the internship operational supervision will be transferred to other SAL personnel. The intern will always be working as part of a team.
Start and End Dates: Mid-May – Mid-August, 2020 (exact start/end dates are negotiable)

Total Hours: 20 hours/week, 12 weeks

Compensation: $12.50/hour
