

Timeline for Honors College Sophomore Seminar Proposal Process

May 2022: Honors College announces call for new course proposals

September 9, 2022, 4:00 p.m. DEADLINE to submit initial drafts of proposals for 2023-24 academic year (Faculty members with approved Honors College courses on file do not need to re-propose their course; instead, please e-mail Honors.College@uvm.edu by 4:00 the day of the deadline expressing interest in teaching during the 2023-24 academic year)

Late September, 2022: Honors College curriculum committee meets to review draft proposals, evaluate if there is a need for supplemental material for academic unit curriculum committees, and consider possible D1/D2/SU classification

Early October, 2022: Meetings with HCOL Deans to discuss HCOL Curriculum Committee recommendations

October 31, 2022, 4:00 p.m. DEADLINE to submit final proposal: a course syllabus and D1/D2/SU forms (if applicable)

November 1, 2022: HCOL Deans make final course approval based on HCOL Curriculum Committee Recommendations and notify faculty

Early November 2022: Honors College works with academic units on faculty recruiting and sophomore seminar scheduling for 2023-24.

November 2022: Material sent out DCRC, SCRC, and academic unit curriculum committees for college/major/distribution requirement approval

December 1, 2022: Faculty approved to teach in the Honors College for the upcoming academic year will be notified, and sent information on course scheduling.

March 1, 2023: 2023-24 sophomore seminars will be posted to the Honors College webpage.

Mid-March, 2023: Advising for course registration begins Early April, 2023: Fall 2023 course registration begins