

THE UNIVERSITY OF VERMONT
CENTER FOR CULTURAL PLURALISM

FROM THEORY TO PRACTICE: THE NUTS & BOLTS OF APPLYING INTERCULTURAL COMMUNICATION & IDENTITY IN THE CLASSROOM

Leeva Chung, PhD

Professor of Communication Studies, affiliate faculty member in Ethnic Studies, and faculty onsite coordinator for the Hong Kong intersession at the University of San Diego.

During this hands on faculty session, we will discuss fundamental approaches in applying intercultural communication and identity. This workshop will focus on various identity-based communication themes in contemporary US society and international arenas. Faculty will explore how active interactive exercises can be linked to intercultural and identity concepts to better support learning.

Thursday, January 9, 2020 8:30 AM - 12:00 PM
Mansfield room, 2nd floor, Dudley H. Davis Center

REGISTER through PeopleSoft-Human Resources, with net ID login, www.uvm.edu/~erp/portal/Main Menu > Self Service > Learning and Development >
Request Training Enrollment > Search by Course Code > COURSE CCP017

For more information: www.uvm.edu/ccp/connect
For ADA accommodations: (802) 656-7753 or access@uvm.edu