Procedures

Policy Elaboration

An ethical and legal responsibility of trust is borne by every relationship between coaches or athletic staff and student-athletes or student employees. This responsibility includes the duty to provide a safe and healthy environment for all student-athletes and student employees, and to serve as role models for young persons. As a result, no amorous relationship – regardless of the perception of consent by one or both participants -- can exist without significant conflicts of interest. In fact, conflicts of interest are intrinsic to amorous relationships between coaches or athletic staff and student-athletes or student employees.

Student-athlete and student employees' respect for and trust in coaches and athletic staff greatly restrict their freedom to reject amorous or sexual advances. The power of coaches and athletic staff to give or withhold benefits further limits the extent to which an amorous or sexual relationship between coaches or athletic staff and student-athletes or student employees can be considered consensual.

Even when the coach or athletic staff member has no direct professional responsibility for a student-athlete or student employee, other student-athletes or student employees may perceive that a student-athlete or student employee who has an amorous relationship with a coach or athletic staff member may receive preferential treatment from the coach or staff member or the coach or staff member's colleagues.

Consequently, the participation of a coaching or athletic staff member in an amorous relationship with a student-athlete or student employee is strictly prohibited. Violation of this policy will result in disciplinary action, up to and including dismissal.

Policy Notification and Availability

New coaches and athletic staff members shall be notified of this Policy in connection with their orientation. This Policy will also be in the Department Policy and Procedures Manual and the Student-Athlete Handbook and will be available on-line as part of the University Policy compendium.

Filing a Complaint and Investigation

A person who wishes to file a complaint alleging a violation of the Policy should promptly contact the Associate Director of Athletics/Senior Women's Administrator, who will immediately initiate an investigation of the complaint with the assistance from the Office of Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity. Reports may also be made under the University's Amorous Relationships with Students policy. The Director of Athletics, or his/her designee, may also upon receipt of allegations of Policy violation, initiate an investigation in cooperation with the Office of Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity. Such investigations shall include interviews with any coaching or athletic staff member accused of Policy violations, at which time they will be given an opportunity to respond to pending allegations.

If investigation demonstrates that a Policy violation has occurred, the coach or staff member will be subject to discipline up to and including dismissal.
