

UVM Emotion Regulation and Autism Research Study

We are recruiting 2-4 year old children with autism and their mothers for a research study of children's responses to frustration.

The research study involves completing 3 questionnaires at home and then a 1-1½ hour visit to our playroom in the Psychology Department at the University of Vermont to observe both you and your child as your child responds to two tasks. $25 compensation will be provided.

If you are interested in participating, or in learning more about the study, please contact Kristin at 802-999-3902.
