

BELCHER LIBRARY.

The Belcher Library is a corporation organized in 1896 under the laws of the State of Vermont. Sec. 883, 884, 885, 886 Vermont Statute.

The library together with a sum of money (the income of which can only be used for the purchase of books), was bequeathed to the village of Gaysville by the late William C. Belcher of San Francisco, Cal., formerly a resident of Stockbridge, Vt.

The library is located in a room adjoining the store of J. A. Chedel & Co. in the village of Gaysville. A branch of the library is located in the store of G. B. Fish of Stockbridge Common.

The books of the Stockbridge Free Public Library consisting of about 220 volumes are cared for by the Belcher Library and are included in the following catalog.

RULES OF THE LIBRARY

1st. The Library is open during the business hours of each week day.

2d. The Library card gives the owner a right to take out one book, it must always be presented when a book is borrowed, returned or renewed.

3rd. If the card is lost, two cents must be paid for a new one.

4th. Books can be kept fourteen days, unless otherwise specified and may be renewed once if not in demand.

5th. A fine of one cent a day and cost of recovery must be paid for books kept over time.

6th. The owner of a card is responsible for all books and fines charged against him. All books lost or injured must be paid for.

7th. A person who has a fine assessed him will not be allowed to draw any more books from the Library until all fines are paid.
